Attlee Relents On Seretse Exile As Rebel Wing Meets

May Stay In Kingdom Until Awaited Birth

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee took cognizance today of the stork and modified the hotly-controversial order making Seretse Khama and his white bride exiles from their African tribal kingdom.

Attlee said the fribal king might live in his British-protected homeland until his London-born wife bears the child she expects late in June.

News of the government's modified position leaked out after a private caucus of Labor Party members. Many of them had angrily criticized their leaders, saying they were pandering to the race prejudices of Commonwealth countries in Africa.

But both Attlee and Patrick Gordon-Walker, the minister for Commonwealth relations, stressed the government's five-year banishment order would be invoked after Seretse's wife has her baby. Then all three of them will be called on to leave.

Seretse will be asked to promise not to stir up tribal antagonism. Whether he accepts remains to be seen.

Seretse said in an interview earlier this week he would go back to Bechuanaland as soon as he received approval from the British government.

MAKES ACCUSATION

He had accused Britain of "double crossing" him in inducing him to come to London for talks and then slapping down its banishment order.

The government, with its hair-breadth parliamentary majority of six seats, found itself in a tough spot, a storm of political, press and public criticism of the action burst loose. One or two non-white Commonwealth countries expressed concern at a decision which they thought amounted to British acceptance of the color bar.

PAY NO TAXES

SEROWE, Bechuanaland (Reuter)—The Bamangwato tribe, protesting against the British government's decision to exile its chief-designate, Seretse Khama, for five years—today started its "nonco-operation" policy.

They refused to distribute a government statement.

The tribe already had decided to pay no more taxes.

Today the district commissioner's office prepared mimeographed copies of the statement in Parliament by Patrick Gordon-Walker, Secretary for Commonwealth Relations, on the banishing of Seretse. The officials wanted them to be handed around to the tribesmen, but the headman refused to accept them.

Stuffed Into Oven By Thugs Man Complains

MONTREAL (CP)—A 43-year-old father of seven children charged today he had been beaten up, painted red and then roasted in the nude by five men who stuffed him into a bake oven.

The complainant was Charles Edouard Roy, who swore out warrants Tuesday for the arrest of five persons who allegedly beat and tortured him Monday.

Det.-Capt. Bill Fitzpatrick, chief of Montreal's homicide squad, confirmed that warrants had been issued and said four persons had been arrested. A fifth is sought.

Displaying a black eye and walking with a limp, Roy said he had been beaten, covered with red metallic paint after his clothes had been removed, and then tossed into a 180-degrees 10-by-six-foot bake oven.

He said he was kept captive there for eight minutes.

Roy said he was lured to a St. James Street building and tortured by five employees of the concern which operates in the building. The attack, he added, was carried out by the five on orders of their boss, who had accused Roy of interfering in the boss's home life.

DENIES CHARGE

"There is no truth to that accusation," said Roy.

Roy's brother, Alphonse, is employed by the company in whose quarters the attack allegedly was made.

Alphonse told police, and Roy confirmed this, that Alphonse too was placed in the heat chamber, but he had not been as badly beaten up as Roy.

Alphonse told police he had been forced to enter the oven in the nude and the intense heat knocked him unconscious. When he regained consciousness he was lying half in and half out of the heat room.

Police said their information was that Alphonse had not received as severe a beating as his brother because the attackers were frightened when they saw Roy's condition.

Detectives told the Canadian Press that Roy had been given a medical examination which proved "beyond a doubt" that he had been subjected to severe abuse.

To Eat Margarine

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Agriculture Minister Cleveland Baker said today a bill will be introduced during the current session of the legislature to lift the ban on sales and manufacture of margarine in Prince Edward Island.

Cars Derailed, None Injured

VANCOUVER (CP)—The last two cars of a west-bound Canadian Pacific Railway passenger train were derailed Tuesday night 30 miles east of Revelstoke, but no passengers were injured.

C.P.R. officials said the train, carrying passengers from Montreal and Toronto, would be delayed about five hours, arriving here at 8 p.m. P.S.T. today.

No reason is known for the derailment, they said. An investigation is under way.

Gubitchev Plan May Be Problem

WASHINGTON (UP) — U.S. officials generally were disappointed in Valentin A. Gubitchev's refusal to return to Russia, but some said the United States probably is better off with him here anyway.

The State and Justice Departments had no official comment on the announcement by Abraham Pomerantz, Gubitchev's attorney, that the Russian would not leave this country if it means he must drop the appeal from his spy conviction.

But diplomats noted that this government gave Gubitchev his choice in an effort to protect U.S. citizens behind the Iron Curtain. There was some speculation, they said, that Gubitchev's return to Russia might have ended Communist harassment of Americans in satellite areas.

VOGELER CASE

They said there were some who hoped it would even lead Russia to intercede in behalf of Robert A. Vogeler, the U.S. businessman who recently was sentenced to 15 years in prison by Hungary on spy charges.

Pomerantz' announcement, they said, apparently has dashed any hopes the State Department may have had on this score.

Despite the State Department's refusal to comment, its spokesman, Lincoln White, said Gubitchev's decision "sounds like a tribute to our courts."

"Perhaps he'd rather stay here and take his chances than go back to Russia," White said.

Some Justice Department officials felt the United States might benefit from the latest turn of events. One said that if Gubitchev did return to Russia, he might have been sent on a tour of eastern Europe to mock the U.S. system of jurisprudence.

On such a tour, he said, Gubitchev could contend that the U.S. allowed him to leave the country only because it knew it had no real case against him.

Steel Workers Union Backed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A rowdy meeting of the Vancouver Labor Council (C.C.L.) Tuesday night voted support to the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) in their attempt to take over membership of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

Fist fights threatened during debate on an appeal from the B.C. Federation of Labor for council support. George Brown of the Marine Workers' and Boilermakers' Union and Stewart Alsbury, International Woodworkers of America executive, almost exchanged punches.

Alsbury accused Brown of interference in I.W.A. affairs in 1943 in New Westminster because "some of his friends in the Labor Progressive Party were in trouble."

"He's a liar," yelled Brown.

Alshbury retorted "and you're a scab."

Weather Forecast

Intermittent rain today and Thursday; little change in temperature. Southeast winds, 15 m.p.h. increasing to 25 this afternoon. Low tonight, 40; high Thursday, 46.

Bill To End Time Limit On Farm Floor Prices

OTTAWA (CP)—The government gave notice today that the legislation providing floor prices for farm products will be put on a permanent basis at this session of Parliament.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner placed on the order paper notice of a bill that would take the time limit, currently March 31, out of the Agricultural Prices Support Act of 1944. Since the war the act basis for current floor prices for butter and eggs—has been extended for a year at a time.

The government now proposes simply that it shall continue in force indefinitely after March 31.

The act provides the legislative foundation for floor prices for any agricultural products the government sees fit to sustain at certain levels in the interests of national economy.

In addition to butter and egg prices, some cheese prices are also currently covered by the act and potatoes were covered for a time last year.

U.S. MEDIATOR CALLS REUTHER TO STRIKE TALK

Bid Hints Growing U.S. Concern As To Chrysler Deadlock

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal Mediator Cyrus S. Ching invited labor leader Walter Reuther today to discuss the automobile workers' strike at the Chrysler Corporation. The bid indicated mounting government concern over the long deadlock.

The strike began Jan. 25 over the union's demand for a 10-cent hourly allocation a worker to cover $100 monthly pensions or a wage increase. The company refused to earmark any pension amount for each employee, and the 90,000 production workers walked out. The company also balked at giving the union a voice in administering the pension fund.

Reuther, here for congressional testimony on social security as president of the United Automobile Workers' Union (C.I.O.), was expected to meet with Ching some time during the day.

There have been indications since the Chrysler strike began, those close to the negotiations report, that Reuther may boost his demands as time for the opening of his contract with General Motors nears. That agreement expires May 29.

Reuther already has stated that the U.A.W. wants a nine-cent hourly wage boost and pensions of $125 a month for the more than 200,000 members of G.M. plants.

The Chrysler strike may drift on for weeks, the government fears, if that is Reuther's strategy. Strike assessments of $1 a week for 12 weeks from U.A.W. members in other auto plants are yielding $700,000 a week for a huge strike kitty, it was reported in Detroit.

12 Families Flee Fire At Ottawa

OTTAWA (BUP)—Fire swept through the Warwick apartment block in downtown Ottawa early today, forcing over a dozen families to the street.

Fire officers said all had been able to escape the building safely. No estimate of damage was fixed, and the cause was not determined.

11 Killed As Two British Planes Crash

LONDON (AP)—Two R.A.F. four-engined bombers crashed within an hour early today, killing 11 men.

The planes were Lincoln bombers, modernized version of the wartime Lancasters and now the standard R.A.F. bomber ships.

The first crash occurred about 1.30 a.m. local time when a plane returning from a training flight overshot the runway at Hemswell R.A.F. station. Five crew members were killed and the sixth was injured.

The second crash came almost an hour later as another Lincoln bomber struck a Welsh mountainside in the darkness. The plane crashed about 2,000 feet up on the slopes of Carnedd Llewelyn, 3,484-foot peak near Snowdon, Wales.

All six men in the bomber's crew were killed. Their bodies were recovered by R.A.F. rescue squads in the early afternoon after a wide search over the rugged Welsh mountainside.

The Welsh plane crash was the second in Wales in three days. Last Sunday 80 persons were killed in the worst air disaster in history when a Tudor V charter plane crashed near Cardiff. There were only three survivors.

Killed By Train

VANCOUVER (CP)—The body of David Jackson, 37-year-old Indian, was found Tuesday beside the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway near Hope, B.C., and officials surmised he had been struck by a rtain. Injuries were found on the head.

BERGMAN SCANDAL STIRS ACTION

Senate Committee Plans Probe Of Hollywood Morals In April

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Senate commerce committee set the stage today for a mid-April airing of Hollywood filmland morals.

Chairman Edwin C. Johnson (Dem.-Colo.), who erupted in the Senate Tuesday about the Ingrid Bergman-Roberto Roselini romance, told a reporter the motion picture industry is going to be called on the carpet to explain why the morals of some of its stars aren't better.

"I'm not a prude or a puritan and I love good movies," Johnson said, "but it seems to me the industry is geting to the point where all an actor has to do is get arrested for something or get mesed up in some immoral affair and stardom is guaranteed."

The Motion Picture Producers' Association fired back in a statement saying Hollywood has no more than its share of people who violate the moral code. It said further that Johnson's proposed method of attacking the situation would menace American freedoms and was "a police state bill."

SUGGEST LICENSE

Johnson proposed crack-down legislation under which every American actor and producer would have to be licensed by a Commerce Department bureau and a $10,000 permit obtained for interstate shipment of every motion picture.

Actors and producers could be denied licenses if they had been convicted on moral charges or admitted committing acts "constituting the essential elements of a crime involving moral turpitude."

Tuesday night, the radio and television industries in the United States came in for some public criticism also. Chairman Wayne Coy of the Federal Communication Commission said in an Oklahoma speech it was a time for them to clean house in the matter of crime programs and "livery stable humor."

A movie fan of 40 years' standing, Johnson criticized what he called the "nanseating commercialism" of RKO studios in releasing the picture "Stromboli" about the time Miss Bergman gave birth to Rossellini's son. Bergman was the star, Rossellini the director.

He said that action "sets an all-time low in shameless exploitation and disregard for good public morals."

The Senator's broadside brought quick response from RKO. In Hollywood, an RKO studio spokesman came to the support of "Stromboli" but offered no defence to the shots directed at Miss Bergman.

Witness Heard Plea For Life By Victim

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—The Crown today wound up its case against Dan Jack MacLean accused of murdering a long-time friend, and the ruddy-faced, 58-year-old former Mayor of Sydney prepared to take the stand in his own defence.

MacLean is charged with the murder of crippled, 63-year-old Joseph MacKinnon. The Crown says MacLean ran down MacKinnon, former Sydney registrar of voters, with a car in a dark, muddy alley Dec. 18.

The final Crown witnesses today told of hearing screams and seeing a car and a body in the alley the night MacKinnon's crushed and battered body was found. Similar testimony was given Tuesday.

Mrs. Susan Macdonald told of hearing loud voices in the alley. Then she heard a man scream: "My God, Jack, let me live."

On cross-examination by defence counsel Ross MacKimmie, she said, however, she could not be sure whether the name she heard was "Jack" or "John."

Fifteen-year-old Jackie MacEachern, baby-sitting at a house near the alley, told of hearing a sound like the screaming of a cat.

FEET BENEATH CAR

He saw a man's feet lying beneath a car. As the car moved backwards and forwards, the feet rose and fell with the movement of the car.

The biggest crowd in three days of the trial before Chief Justice J. L. Ilsley and an all-male jury crowded into the court room.

Two other witnesses told of MacLean's conduct in hospital, where he was taken with an injured shoulder after MacKinnon's death.

Dr. H. Devereux said MacLean, on the advice of his counsel, refused to permit a blood test.

BLOODSTAINS

Thomas Mew, a hospital orderly, said MacLean's coat was stained with blood from a cut. MacLean told him, he testified, the cut was the result of an accident with an axe the day before.

Witnesses Tuesday testified they had heard screams of "Don't, Jack" from the alley.

Mrs. Hilda MacAskill, whose house adjoins the alley, told of hearing screams of "Oh Jack, don't Jack," from the alley outside her kitchen window. She saw a man's head just in front of the car wheels.

Poland First Land To Leave World Bank

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russian-dominated Poland has withdrawn from the World Bank.

The 48-country financial institution announced the withdrawal today. It was the first resignation from the bank since it was organized in 1945.

It was understood Poland also had quit the World Monetary Fund, sister institution to the bank, but there was no immediate statement from the fund.

The bank was set up after the war to finance reconstruction of war-damaged countries and to aid in development of backward areas.

Czechoslovakia is the only other member of the bank and fund from the Russian bloc. There was no word as to whether the Czechs would follow the lead of the Poles.

U.S. Soldiers In Austria On Kidnap Charge

SALZBURG, Austria (UP) — Two American soldiers pleaded innocent before a U.S. army court-martial today to charges of operating a Soviet-sponsored kidnap ring in Austria.

The soldiers are Cpl. Paul E. Abel, 26, of Bolivar, Mo., and Sgt. John T. Frankey, 29, of New York.

The two soldiers told a 12-man court-martial they were innocent of charges of "transporting" Oswald Eder of Vienna "across political borders against his will."

Between 40 and 50 witnesses will testify during the trial, which is being heard in the Tandesgerecht courtroom by five enlisted men and seven officers.

Abel also pleaded innocent to a second charge of larceny involving the theft of a radio.

According to confessions released by the army, Frankey and Abel said they received 7,000 Austrian schillings ($250) for the kidnapping of Eder.

Mayor Of Sydney Recalls Nothing Of Tragic Night

Weeps Giving Evidence In Own Murder Defence

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Dan Jack MacLean told today of a five-hour drinking spree with Joseph MacKinnon, the man he is accused of murdering, and testified he can't remember what happened the night MacKinnon was killed.

MacLean, 58, and ruddy-faced, took the stand in his own defence in his trial for murder. He pleaded innocent.

He told of drinking beer with MacKinnon, then driving to his summer home with bottles of rum and brandy where the two men drank and talked and sang in Gaelic.

He fell asleep, he said. The next thing he remembers is being awakened at home by his wife who told him the police wanted him.

Tells His Story

Chief witness at his trial in Sydney, N.S., today is ex-mayor Dan Jack MacLean himself.

LIFE-LONG FRIEND

Once MacLean broke down as he told of a life-long friendship with MacKinnon.

"It struck me pretty hard to think that I was accused of the murder of the best friend I had in this world," he said.

MacLean was the only witness called by the defence counsel Ross MacKimmie. Mr. MacKimmie and Crown Prosecutor Donald Finlayson are summing up the case. It is expected to reach the all-male Nova Scotia Supreme Court jury tomorrow.

Before MacLean took the stand, witnesses told of hearing screams of "Don't Jack" and seeing a car move back and forth towards a body in the muddy alley in the south-end of Sydney. MacKinnon died shortly after his body was found in the alley.

MacLean said he did not know how he drove his car home from the cottage and got upstairs to bed. Neither could he explain bruises on his left side.

He said he and MacKinnon had been friends since childhood who had often lent each other money. They frequently drank together and talked and sang in Gaelic, he said.

He broke down and cried as he told the jury that it was a "great shock" when he was informed of MacKinnon's death.

The final Crown witnesses today told of hearing screams and seeing a car and a body in the alley the night MacKinnon's crushed and battered body was found. Similar testimony was given Tuesday.

Mrs. Susan Macdonald told of hearing loud voices in the alley. Then she heard a man scream: "My God, Jack, let me live."

On cross-examination by defence counsel Ross MacKimmie, she said, however, she could not be sure whether the name she heard was "Jack" or "John."

PLANE HITS SNACK BAR

LAS VEGAS (UP)—A P-51 Mustang smashed into a snack bar at the Las Vegas air base while attempting a landing today and 15 persons were injured.

Air force officials said no one was killed but that 10 of the injured, including the pilot, were in serious condition. The air force said no names were available immediately.

The plane tore a big hole in the side of the snack bar in which some of the air base personnel were eating, an air force spokesman said. The pilot was trapped inside the plane and had to be cut out. The plane did not catch fire.

May Earmark Sales Tax For School Only

Also Consider Changing System Of Distribution

There were indications at this morning's sitting of the Legislature that the government intends to earmark for school purposes only the one-third share of the 3 per cent sales tax that municipalities are receiving.

It was stated, too, that a change in the system of distribution of the municipalities' shares of the tax was under study.

Education Minister W. T. Straith said during discussion of estimated expenditures of his department in the coming year, efforts were being made "to find some formula for more equal distribution of the sales tax."

Replying to a question from W. A. C. Bennett, Cln., South Okanagan, the education minister said also he favored stipulating to municipalities that their shares of the sales tax were for education purposes only.

Then, he stated, the mill rates for school taxes would give a true picture.

As it was now, sales tax money was being used to help pay for increased salaries of municipal employees, other than school-teachers, and for other purposes. Consequently the school tax showed a higher increase than it should.

STRAITH FAVORS PLAN

It was intended at the start that the municipalities' share of the sales tax be used for education and, said Mr. Straith: "I am strongly in favor of its being earmarked definitely for school purposes."

In his question to Mr. Straith, Mr. Bennett suggested that share of the sales tax for municipalities be set up as an "equalization fund."

Where school costs in one district were not equitable with those of another district, the first would then receive a greater share of the tax to bring the costs in line with each other.

Scientific Experts Of Three Nations Attend

OTTAWA (CP)—The most hush-hush defence conference Ottawa has known since the war opened today, underlining the fact that Canada has quietly and largely in secret stepped into the front rank of Allied studies of bacteriological or germ warfare.

The second scientific conference sponsored by the Defence Department's Research Board, was launched under such stringent secrecy precautions that no one would even says where it was being held. The chairman, Dr. O. M. Solandt, is director-general of defence research and one of Canada's four chiefs of staff.

In attendance was Canadian, American and British scientists, experts in radar, in germ, gas, arctic, psychological and other forms of warfare.

The subjects under discussion for the next three days are of a high level secrecy classification, even more so than at the first conference last year.

Public relations officers of the Defence Department were told not another line about the conference will be made public beyond an announcement of the meeting made two days ago.

There were plans for a press conference to explain why such secrecy must prevail, but these were abandoned.

Atomic energy is not one of the subjects to be dealt with at this conference. Canada leaves the military aspects of the atom to Britain and the U.S.

Federal Steel Controls Come To End Mar. 31

OTTAWA (CP)—Trade Minister Howe today announced that federal steel controls will come to an end March 31.

Mr. Howe said in a statement that Steel Controller D. A. Jones will resign his post and return to private industry.

Termination of steel controls results from the trade department estimate that the world shortage in steel which became critical in 1946 now is at an end.

"The steel situation now is substantially improved," Mr. Howe said, "and while work stoppages in the United States are having a temporary adverse effect on the Canadian steel situation, the future position is considered satisfactory."

Poland First To Leave World Bank

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russian-dominated Poland has withdrawn from the World Bank.

Sees Bright Future For Indian Artist

"A brilliant future" for a young Indian artist, Judith Morgan, was predicted in the Legislature this afternoon by Education Minister W. T. Straith.

The minister said his department in the past had "missed the bus" in so far as support of B.C. artists was concerned, but that it was to be a different story with Miss Morgan.

U.S. Offers Aid For Free Asiatics To Oppose Reds

Military, Financial, Technical Help Available Within Limits—Acheson

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson today promised Asia's non-Communist countries limited assistance in their struggle to resist "Soviet-Communist imperialism" in the Far East.

The assistance would cover military, financial and technical aid.

The limitations Acheson specified are that "the aid we extend must be of a kind appropriate to the particular situation; it must be fitted into the responsibilities of others, and it must be within the prudent capabilities of our own resources."

At the same time Acheson said the Chinese people will be headed for "grave trouble" if their Communist rulers lead them into "aggressive or subversive adventures" against neighboring countries.

Declaring that the Reds may use China as a base for new thrusts, Acheson said they would violate the United Nations charter and "would violate the peace which the charter was designed to preserve."

In a major foreign policy speech prepared for San Francisco's Commonwealth Club, Acheson also:

1. Declared the United States stands ready to trade with China on a fair basis but not to sell the Chinese "goods which may be used to harm us."

2. Accused Russia of shipping food from China to the Soviet Union at a time when 40,000,000 Chinese face possible starvation; also accused Russia of having robbed Manchuria of industrial equipment with $2,000,000,000 worth of productive capacity in 1945.

3. Described the new Soviet $300,000,000 five-year program of aid to China as falling far short of "China's real needs and desires."

4. Said the major threat to freedom and progress throughout Asia today is "the attempted penetration of Asia by Soviet-Communist imperialism and by the colonialism which it contains."

5. Declared the American people are the real leaders of a "revolution by the common people" and that Communism as a "tool of Soviet imperialism" perverts the real democratic revolution.

SPREAD WIVES AROUND WORLD

CARDIFF, Wales (UP)—A 29-year-old Australian sailor with wives in six different ports was sentenced to three years in jail today for bigamy.

Prosecutor Raymond Phillipps said Thomas Douglas had a wife in Perth, Australia; Capetown, South Africa; Liverpool and Gateshead, England; and Glasgow and Barry Glamorgan Wales.

Justice T. Byrne counted the wives on his fingers and said: "Perfectly appalling."

Against Federal Aid To Education

Education Minister W. T. Straith said before the B.C. Legislature today that he would be opposed to having the federal government move in on financing classroom education.

The minister was speaking in reply to Randolph Harding, C.C.F. member from Kaslo Slocan, who suggested Canadian provinces should get together in seeking federal government financial support to raise the general standard of education.

Farming, Fishery Price Support Now Permanent

Up To $12,500,000 Already Written Off As Complete Loss Under Acts

OTTAWA (CP)—Further steps were taken by the government today to make price-support action for farm and fish products a permanent feature of the Canadian economy.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner placed on the Commons order paper notice that the government plans to perpetuate its $200,000,000 fund set aside to keep farm prices buoyant.

At the same time, Fisheries Minister Mayhew gave notice that he will introduce a bill to take the $25,000,000 fisheries price-support act out of the realm of acts which can only be wiped out by parliamentary action.

Both measures will be brought into the House before the current fiscal year ends March 31.

Thus, farm and fisheries price-support will be removed from the category of emergency legislation created as a wartime necessity. Both acts were passed in 1944. However, farm support was unnecessary until 1946 when world markets began to contract and some Canadian products, such as potatoes and apples, became hard-pressed for export outlets.

Since their adoption, the acts have been renewed from year to year; fisheries price-support by order-in-council and farm support by parliamentary approval.

So far about $10,000,000 or $12,000,000 has been written off as complete loss under farm support and another $500,000 under the fisheries act.

Currently, the government is supporting the price of eggs, cheese, bacon, butter and is being asked to grant price security to east coast potatoes and west coast apples.

A change in the support price of butter—now at 58 cents—is expected to be announced within the next few weeks.

To Eat Margarine

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP)—Agriculture Minister Cleveland Baker said today a bill will be introduced during the current session of the legislature to lift the ban on sales and manufacture of margarine in Prince Edward Island.

Gubitchev Changes Mind Spy To Quit U.S. Monday

Russian U.N. Worker Renounces All Right To Appeal Court Conviction

NEW YORK (UP)—Valentin Gubitchev will leave the United States for Russia next Monday as originally planned, his attorney announced today.

Attorney Abraham L. Pomerantz told Federal District Judge Sylvester Ryan that the 33-year-old Russian has agreed to the government's stipulation that he renounce all right of appeal from his espionage conspiracy conviction when he leaves the country under a suspended 15-year sentence.

It was the second abrupt reversal of plans in less than 24 hours. Pomerantz announced late yesterday that Gubitchev would stay in the U.S. and fight for a reversal of his conviction. The attorney was accompanied in court today by Yuri Novikov, third secretary of the Soviet Embassy at Washington, who sat through the trial as Gubitchev's official interpreter.

HAD NO AUTHORITY

Pomerantz told the court that when he refused Tuesday to accept the government's condition to the Russian's departure, he was without authority to accept or reject for his client.

"I have since received authorization from Gubitchev to accept this further condition," he said.

$42,500 Needed To Meet Quota

Nearing the half-way mark of the month-long Canadian Red Cross subscription drive, collections and donations passed the one-third mark of the $65,000 Greater Victoria area quota, local officials said. Early this afternoon, the collections totaled $22,500.

Wismer To Tell Govt. Plans On Freight Rates

Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer announced in the Legislature this morning he will bring in a statement before the House prorogues on what further action the government intends to take to try and bring down railway freight rates.

Mr. Wismer said the prairie provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba had decided to appeal a recent decision of the federal department of transport, authorizing Canadian railways to boost their freight rates.

He said the B.C. cabinet now was giving considerable thought as to whether or not it should follow this lead.

"The railways are charging all they can—all that the traffic will bear," Mr. Wismer said. "Yet, they say they haven't got enough to run their railways."

"Before the end of the Legislature, I'll have a statement," he concluded.

Selling Success Proved By City Man

Frank N. Benson, 3334 Tennyson Avenue, is high in his praise of the selling medium he found so successful less than one week ago.

When Mr. Benson had a model A to sell, he telephoned the Times want ad department, B 3131. After the ad appeared in thousands of city homes, it was not long before the car was in the hands of a new owner.

Now, Mr. Benson decided to sell a De Walt saw only two years old with three blades at half the cost price for cash. Soon after the paper was off the presses, he received a telephone call and completed the transaction.

MAY RISE TO $36 IN 1951

Increase In Hospital Premiums Considered Unlikely This Year

It appears unlikely there will be any increase in hospital insurance premiums this year, but a $3 rise next year is probable following perhaps a slight decrease in services.

The question has been under discussion in Coalition caucus the last two days, and a third session was scheduled today.

Private members are fighting any move for an increase in premiums as well as any reduction in services, but the government must effect changes to reduce the tremendous losses being suffered by the hospital insurance service.

It is understood a suggestion that hospital insurance service be reduced by paying for only one-half of the patient's bill after the first seven days in hospital, and then returning to full payment after the 17th day, was turned down.

OTHER RESTRICTIONS

Other restrictions could be made though, and it is believed some decision on them will be arrived at in today's caucus.

The $3 increase in premiums expected next year would bring the present charge to $24 for single persons and $36 for married couples and others with dependents.

It is understood the government wishes to have the question straightened out before Premier Byron Johnson leaves for England at the week-end to attend a Timber Trade Federation conference. The Premier will return March 27 in time for prorogation, expected around the end of the month.

The Premier has taken over the job of bringing to the House amendments to the insurance scheme from Health Minister George S. Pearson. Mr. Pearson, after a week in hospital following a breakdown, was released last Saturday but is not well enough to return to his office yet.

ACTS CONFLICT, SAYS DAVEY

City, Firefighters' Wage Hearing Halted

Conflict between the concept underlying the Municipal Act and the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act halted negotiations on a wage dispute between the city and the International Association of Fire Fighters, Local 730, at City Hall today.

In short, the board sitting on the matter does not know whether it is a conciliation board or an arbitration board.

H. K. Bate, chairman, ordered adjournment to give Hugh Bird fighters' representative, an opportunity to seek legal counsel on what approach to the problem it would agree on.

The question is whether the board is to handle the dispute on the grounds of a finding a fair and equitable wage or on what the two parties are willing to accept. In the first instance it would be a board of arbitration with its findings binding and in the second it would be a board of conciliation.

DIFFERENCE OF 4½ CENTS

The problem presented a very practical side. H. W. Davey, K.C., city's nominee on the board, pointed out, explaining that the difference of approach meant a 4½-cent difference in the award granted the city's outside staff recently by a majority award.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

A MOVING PLEA

WITH THE WORLD in its present jittery state, induced by super-bomb and super-spy revelations, the average man and woman is wondering whether we shall ever attain the much-sought-after goal of world peace.

And because so many are groping blindly after that elusive aim, it might be well to study the prescription for peace thought out by one of the young victims of the recent war. It was contained in a letter written in 1946 by a young American soldier who not only lost his legs in combat but sustained other injuries which caused him intense suffering.

AFTER FOUR YEARS

I WAS so touched by the letter when it was published that I ran it in this column at the time. Now I see by the New York Times that the writer, John Crown, has died after four years on a pain-wracked bed in Halloran Hospital. And as I feel that now, more than ever, his letter takes on even greater meaning for us all, I am repeating it here: He starts out:

"My name is John Crown. I am a paraplegia at Halloran General Hospital. My physical wounds are very small in comparison with my spiritual wounds. I have come back from death to a world that I no longer care for. I, who have been engaged in the great struggle to save the world from tyranny and having seen my comrades die for this cause, can now find no peace in the world or in my country."

FLIMSY REASONS

TO THAT young soldier, who dedicated his youth and life to the cause of freedom, the reasons for world-wide bloodshed and suffering seemed senseless, as they do to many of us. For he goes on:

"Having lived close to death for two years, the reasons why there is no peace seem infinitesimally flimsy. Russia wants the Dardanelles, Yugoslavia wants Trieste, the Moslems want India, Labor wants more wages, capital wants more profit, Smith wants to pass the car in front of him, Junior wants more spending money. To these, I say, is it necessary to kill and cripple human beings for these petty gains?

"Anyone who thinks a human body is so cheap that it can be traded for a tract of land, a piece of silver, or a few minutes of time should be forced to listen to the moans of the dying night and day for the rest of his life."

ALL OF US TO BLAME

NOR DOES he take the easy way out by blaming merely the statesmen and the politicians for the mess. Here is how he apportions responsibility:

"All the troubles of the world originate in the common man. The selfish and greedy ways of nations are just the ways of each individual man multiplied a hundredfold. When the morals of the common man drop, so do the morals of the nation and of the world.

"As long as our individual morals remain at a low ebb, so will be the world. Until each of us stops 'hogging the road' with his car, stops fighting over the seat on the bus, stops arguing over who is going to cut the grass, there will be no peace in the world. If man wishes peace again he must return to the great Commandment, 'Love thy neighbor as thyself for the love of God'."

OUR RESPONSIBILITY

THAT SHATTERED body has at last found peace. But he left behind him a priceless legacy—a prescription for peace and universal understanding which every one of us would do well to follow.

Out of the depths of his agony, he reminded us that we each have an individual responsibility, that the path of peace starts at our own doorstep, that nations are made up of individuals whose own personal behavior helps to determine the pattern of national and international behavior. If we can only take his lesson to heart, perhaps that young veteran and millions of others like him will not have suffered and died in vain.

'PLAYS LIKE A MAN'

Performance Shows Masculine Approach

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

It has been said of the distinguished English pianist, Moura Lympany, that she "plays like a man." But this is not as full a compliment as she deserves unless one goes on to say that the masculinity is present, not only in her touch and technical resources, but in the breadth and scope of her intellectual approach.

In recital at the Royal Theatre Tuesday night, Miss Lympany presented a program, refreshingly representative of the modern pianist's repertoire. It fully explored the ramifications of her amazing virtuosity, even though it left the more lyric phases of her pianism somewhat understated.

Her beautifully proportioned, sustained yet flowing Bach (the Chromatic Fantasia and Fugue) revealed at the outset, the true exponent of the Matthay school. The ease with which she called forth great masses of tone, the clear perfection of pianissimo passages, the shimmering quality of some of the Chopin Etudes, all bespoke perfect muscular freedom and co-ordination.

The balanced touch which made the Debussy numbers, particularly "Poisson d'or," fragments of scintillating charm, invested the mammoth, Schumann Etudes Symphoniques with brilliant color and minute variations of delicacy and vigor.

A rhythmically captivating Ravel Toccata shared the latter part of the program with Dohnanyi, Poulenc and Shostakovich (Three Fantastic Dances, played with characteristic piquancy) but it remained for two encores—a Rachmaninoff Prelude and the Chopin Valse Op. 70 No. 1, to reveal more fully, the romantic side of the pianist.

Miss Lympany lacks warmth a little, but she has superb style and vitality, a fine sense of phrase and a restraint that declares her artistic calibre fully equal to her virtuosity.

UNCLE RAY

OAK TREES DIFFER WIDELY IN SIZE AND SHAPE OF LEAVES

When we study trees (and other subjects as well) it is a good idea to be careful about general statements. Do all trees lose their leaves in the autumn, and do all have rings in their trunks? By no means! Even in a special family of trees, there may be dozen of kinds, and these may differ in important ways.

Take the oaks, for example. Does the oak grow to be a big, sturdy tree, and does it lose its leaves in winter?

Most oaks do, but some differ from the rest. There are dwarf oaks on mountains and elsewhere, and they are far from being big.

The so-called "live oaks" have dwarfs among them. These trees grow chiefly in states around the Gulf of Mexico. Many reach heights of 40 or 50 feet, and supply some of the best timber to be found anywhere. Others grow close to the level of salt water, and are dwarfs. A professor reported finding one of them, only a foot high, with acorns growing on it!

The leaves of most kinds of oaks die in the autumn. Some keep a number of brown leaves through the coldest months, not shedding them until spring.

Live oaks keep their green leaves through the winter. That is why they seem more "alive" than other oaks, and the fact explains their name.

The leaves of oak trees differ a great deal in size and shape. Some of the leaves have rounded lobes and others have pointed lobes.

The oaks with rounded lobes on their leaves produce a new crop of acorns every year. White oaks, post oaks and burr oaks are among these. Oaks with pointed lobes on their leaves take two seasons to produce a mature crop of acorns.

Oaks have been known widely since ancient times. In the Bible we read about an oak tree under which Abraham rested. Travelers to the area where Abraham is believed to have lived may look at "Abraham's Oak." There is a question about its real age, but guides say it is the very tree used by the ancient Jewish patriarch.

Chamber's Tourist Men Consider Mount Brenton Park Suggestion

Proposal to have the Mount Brenton area, near Chemainus, preserved as a provincial park received a good reception when placed before the tourist trade group of the Chamber of Commerce for endorsation Tuesday.

The proposal was submitted for the group's opinion by the Victoria Outdoor Club. The club has already taken the matter up with provincial government officials and is now seeking the support of as many public groups as possible.

In a letter of explanation to the chamber, the Outdoor Club described Mount Brenton as an ideal skiing ground during the winter and a fisherman's paradise in the summer.

Frank Porter, who recently visited the area, said the mountain slope was exactly tailored for skiers and thought with a little promotion the place could be a regular "ski mine."

"It's about time we smartened up on this island," he told the meeting. "The people to the south are really ski minded and with a proper resort, we could bring a lot more tourists here."

Sam Lane thought the mountain should be developed as a place for skiing if only for people who live on the island.

MONEY LEAVING COUNTRY

At the present time, he noted, Victorians regularly take the boat to Port Angeles for a weekend of skiing. And that, he observed, means money going out of the country.

O. B. Taylor, restaurant owner, said if the government made a provincial park of Mount Brenton it would likely increase government expenditures and then taxes might go up. He was against taxes going up.

In order that the group might know more about the proposed park, a committee of four was appointed to bring in a full report and a recommendation for action. Kelly Porter was named chairman.

Give Reasons For Action In Dispute On City Wages

Reasons for their action in the matter of the wage dispute between the city and its outside staff were given by Macgregor Macintosh and George Wilkinson of the Labor Relations Board, to the Civic Service Committee.

The committee in a deposition outlined those reasons at City Council meeting Tuesday. They were:

1. "That they believed the City Council of the City of Victoria would wish to avoid the embarrassment of an illegal strike which would seriously affect certain essential services performed by members of the particular union concerned.

2. "That if the original decision of the conciliation board for a three cent increase had been made public it would precipitate attention where, in future, no unions would agree to conciliation board awards being final and binding upon both parties and therefore lead to industrial unrest throughout the province of B.C.

3. "That they felt it was the duty of the Labor Relations Board (B.C.) to uphold the spirit and intent of the I.C. & A. Act rather than insist upon the strict observance of the letter of this particular law, in an effort to maintain harmonious industrial relations throughout B.C.

"Mr. Wilkinson expressed concern over the tone of the minority report filed by the city's nominee, more particularly because it mentioned the name of Macgregor Macintosh in connection with certain actions attributed to him as a member of the Labor Relations Board (B.C.) which were considered by H. W. Davey, K.C., to be highly improper, and, in certain instances, illegal.

"Mr. Wilkinson stated that he had requested Mr. Davey to alter his minority report by deleting all mention of specific names insofar as members of the Labor Relations Board (B.C.) were concerned, and substituting therefore such phraseology as 'a certain member of the Labor Relations Board, etc.' but that Mr. Davey had refused to do so."

Authorize Unions On Bargaining

Certificates of bargaining authority have been issued by the Labor Relations Board to unions for employees of five different Victoria companies:

To the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America for employees of Charles N. Mullins (Mullins Painting and Decorating), 3242 Douglas Street, and for employees of Pacific Glass Ltd, 932 Pandora Avenue.

To the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America for employees of Superior Foods Stores Ltd., in Greater Victoria, Vancouver, Burnaby, North Vancouver, West Vancouver and New Westminster.

To the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America for employees of Home Roofing and Building Products Ltd., 2006 Government Street, and for employees of Desmond Hourigan, 1719 Bank Street.

Reject Proposal For Welcome Sign

Suggestion that the Chamber of Commerce put up an electric sign at the inner harbor, extending a greeting to incoming tourists was given a cold reception when it came before the chamber's tourist trade group Tuesday.

The proposal was submitted by O. D. Davis. It was received and filed without comment.

Noisy Commons Debate On Defense

By 106 To 51 House Rejects P.C. Committee Inquiry Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons, after witnessing a noisy, heated verbal battle between George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, and Defence Minister Claxton, Tuesday night voted against establishment of a defence committee.

By a vote of 106 to 51, members rejected a Progressive Conservative motion calling for establishment of a committee to examine Canada's defence establishment and expenditures. But the vote, which saw the Progressive Conservative, C.C.F. and Social Credit parties line up in opposition against the government, came as an anti-climax.

SPEAKER SHOUTS

The fireworks started after Mr. Claxton had challenged a charge by Mr. Drew that the defence minister had deliberately attempted to mislead the House on defence matters.

Then, until the division bells sounded, angry interjections were tossed back and forth across the floor while Speaker Ross Macdonald shouted for order. At the height of the disturbance, Trade Minister Howe reached over and extended a hand to keep the defence minister in his seat.

Mr. Drew said Mr. Claxton had misled Canadians by saying during a recent western tour that Canada soon would have the highest proportion of jet planes in the world.

Jumping to his feet, Mr. Claxton shouted he had said no such thing. He challenged Mr. Drew to produce the "exact report."

Mr. Drew began reading an editorial which he said appeared in the Calgary Herald on the subject, but Mr. Claxton again called for production of the actual report. At this point the minister and Mr. Drew were both trying to make themselves heard at the same time.

Mr. Claxton appealed to the Speaker and called for a withdrawal of the statement that he had misled the House. Mr. Drew declined to withdraw. There was no occasion to withdraw, he said, when "there is not some accompanying word that makes it deliberate."

Speaker Macdonald said he would not ask for a withdrawal as long as Mr. Drew was not saying the minister had attempted to mislead the House deliberately.

The clash occurred after more than a half-dozen opposition members had supported the defence committee motion, sponsored by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C. (P.C.-Nanaimo), a veteran of the Two World Wars.

ESTIMATES DISCUSSED

The motion was in the form of an amendment to a government proposal that the House go into committee of supply to study estimates of various departments.

Board Rules In Favor Of Waitresses

A board of arbitration has ruled that two waitresses dismissed Feb. 23 from the Royal Dominion Dining Room, 775 Yates Street, were dismissed primarily because of union activities.

The three-man board, consisting of Rev. K. L. Sandercock, chairman, Benjamin Metcalfe and Victor Midgley, made known its decision Tuesday after hearing arguments from both sides.

The restaurant management and the waitresses' union had agreed previously the arbitration board's ruling would be binding. By agreement, the management must reinstate the two waitresses as permanent employees and pay them retroactive to the time of their discharge.

Financial Aid Urged For U.K.

"Canada must lend financial aid to Great Britain. She'll pay it back. But if we think it is a risk, then we haven't any faith left in the world, for, without Great Britain, the world would not exist."

That was the way Andrew D. MacLean, president of the Hugh C. MacLean Publications Limited of Toronto, concluded his "Report on Britain" before a combined luncheon meeting of the city Kiwanis and Electrical Clubs at the Empress Hotel Tuesday.

British industry would overcome its present difficulties as a result of British tradition and superb design, Mr. MacLean said, adding that the health of British industry was good.

One of six editors from Canada on a five-week tour of the United Kingdom, Mr. MacLean reported all came back satisfied that Britain was no more bankrupt in U.S. dollars than Canada. However, he believed that, in order to survive, Britain and Canada must buy more from each other and less from the U.S.

In 1862 Alfred Nobel, a Swedish scientist, invented a method by which nitroglycerine could be used for commercial dynamiting.

FOR AUDITION in San Francisco, Madonna McCabe, soprano, 19, of 215 Quebec Street, will leave Victoria March 25, where she will compete in a nation-wide audition where the total prize money amounts to $15,000.

Suggests Island Resorts Be Made To Keep Cleaner

A letter submitted to the tourist trade group of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, suggesting some action be taken to make a number of island resorts clean up their premises was received and filed Tuesday but not without some discussion.

The letter which provoked argument within the group was from E. C. Posgate, 900 Park Boulevard, a member of the Automobile Club.

Walter S. Miles, chamber president, said, "Some of those places need looking into."

He thought it might be wise to have the B.C. Department of Trade and Industry look into the premises listed in Mr. Posgate's letter.

William A. Mooney, group member, agreed with Mr. Miles. He said he recently stopped at a resort near the northern end of the island highway and was given bad treatment.

He said he was recommending to people not to go to the place.

Majority of the members at the meeting thought no action should be taken as it would constitute meddling in private affairs.

Beaten, Stuffed In Oven By Thugs

Montreal Police Probe Charges Of Brutal Act

MONTREAL (CP)—A 43-year-old father of seven children charged today he had been beaten up, painted red and then roasted in the nude by five men who stuffed him into a bake oven.

The complainant was Charles Edouard Roy, who swore out warrants Tuesday for the arrest of five persons who allegedly beat and tortured him Monday.

Det.-Capt. Bill Fitzpatrick, chief of Montreal's homicide squad, confirmed that warrants had been issued and said four persons had been arrested. A fifth is sought.

Displaying a black eye and walking with a limp, Roy said he had been beaten, covered with red metallic paint after his clothes had been removed, and then tossed into a 180-degrees 10-by-six-foot bake oven.

He said he was kept captive there for eight minutes.

Roy said he was lured to a St. James Street building and tortured by five employees of the concern which operates in the building. The attack, he added, was carried out by the five on orders of their boss, who had accused Roy of interfering in the boss's home life.

DENIES CHARGE

"There is no truth to that accusation," said Roy.

Roy's brother, Alphonse, is employed by the company in whose quarters the attack allegedly was made.

Alphonse told police, and Roy confirmed this, that Alphonse too was placed in the heat chamber, but he had not been as badly beaten up as Roy.

Alphonse told police he had been forced to enter the oven in the nude and the intense heat knocked him unconscious. When he regained consciousness he was lying half in and half out of the heat room.

Police said their information was that Alphonse had not received as severe a beating as his brother because the attackers were frightened when they saw Roy's condition.

Detectives told the Canadian Press that Roy had been given a medical examination which proved "beyond a doubt" that he had been subjected to severe abuse.

Prelate Denies Arrest Near

PARIS (AP)—Bishop Gerald P. O'Hara, Papal nuncio to Romania, said by telephone today from Bucharest that reports of his impending arrest are "all nonsense."

The Bishop was commenting on a report by an American broadcasting company correspondent in Rome that said the Roman Catholic prelate would be arrested soon by Communist Romania on spy charges.

Bishop O'Hara, who heads the Diocese of Atlanta-Savannah, Georgia, in the United States, sounded cheerful as he said of the report:

"Yes, I've already heard all about it. It's all nonsense. I was just out in the garden peacefully taking a breather when you telephoned."

Tonic Too Good; Patient Jailed

BURNS LAKE, B.C. (BUP)—James Thom was in jail today because a tonic which had beef, iron and wine as its ingredients was too potent for him and his Indian reservation neighbors.

Thom had a case of the tonic, and his neighbors started singing and dancing as they helped him drink it.

Police arrived when the party got rough and a woman suffered a head cut. Thom was put in the cooler until he lost some of his new-found vigor.

U.S. Soldiers In Austria On Kidnap Charge

SALZBURG, Austria (UP)—Two American soldiers pleaded innocent before a U.S. army court-martial today to charges of operating a Soviet-sponsored kidnap ring in Austria.

The soldiers are Cpl. Paul E. Abel, 26, of Bolivar, Mo., and Sgt. John T. Frankey, 29, of New York.

The two soldiers told a 12-man court-martial they were innocent of charges of "transporting" Oswald Eder of Vienna "across political borders against his will."

Between 40 and 50 witnesses will testify during the trial, which is being heard in the Tandesgerecht courtroom by five enlisted men and seven officers.

Abel also pleaded innocent to a second charge of larceny involving the theft of a radio.

According to confessions released by the army, Frankey and Abel said they received 7,000 Austrian schillings ($250) for the kidnapping of Eder.

Must Move Sub To Safe Water

LONDON (UP) — A naval spokesman said today the submarine Truculent, which sank in the Thames estuary with a loss of 64 lives last Jan. 12, would have to be moved to shallower water before anyone could board it.

The Truculent was raised Tuesday and towed to a sandbar. Two-thirds of the craft was above water level at low tide.

A naval ambulance party stood by today, ready to board the Truculent to search for any bodies of missing crewmen who might have been trapped when it collided with a Swedish tanker.

Record Expenditures

QUEBEC (CP)—Record estimates of government expenditures totaling $200,614,850 for 1950-51 were tabled in the Quebec Legislature Tuesday afternoon by provincial treasurer Onesime Gagnon. The treasurer is expected to announce record estimates of revenues for the province Thursday.

LONDON (CP) — Tottenham school children think they are the luckiest in London. They share 20 gallons of ice cream daily.

BERGMAN SCANDAL STIRS ACTION

Senate Committee Plans Probe Of Hollywood Morals In April

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Senate commerce committee set the stage today for a mid-April airing of Hollywood filmland morals.

Chairman Edwin C. Johnson (Dem.-Colo.), who erupted in the Senate Tuesday about the Ingrid Bergman-Roberto Roselini romance, told a reporter the motion picture industry is going to be called on the carpet to explain why the morals of some of its stars aren't better.

"I'm not a prude or a puritan and I love good movies," Johnson said, "but it seems to me the industry is geting to the point where all an actor has to do is get arrested for something or get mesed up in some immoral affair and stardom is guaranteed."

The Motion Picture Producers' Association fired back in a statement saying Hollywood has no more than its share of people who violate the moral code. It said further that Johnson's proposed method of attacking the situation would menace American freedoms and was "a police state bill."

SUGGEST LICENSE

Johnson proposed crack-down legislation under which every American actor and producer would have to be licensed by a Commerce Department bureau and a $10,000 permit obtained for interstate shipment of every motion picture.

Actors and producers could be denied licenses if they had been convicted on moral charges or admitted committing acts "constituting the essential elements of a crime involving moral turpitude."

Tuesday night, the radio and television industries in the United States came in for some public criticism also. Chairman Wayne Coy of the Federal Communication Commission said in an Oklahoma speech it was a time for them to clean house in the matter of crime programs and "livery stable humor."

A movie fan of 40 years' standing, Johnson criticized what he called the "nauseating commercialism" of RKO studios in releasing the picture "Stromboli" about the time Miss Bergman gave birth to Rossellini's son. Bergman was the star, Rossellini the director.

He said that action "sets an all-time low in shameless exploitation and disregard for good public morals."

The Senator's broadside brought quick response from RKO. In Hollywood, an RKO studio spokesman came to the support of "Stromboli" but offered no defence to the shots directed at Miss Bergman.

Attlee Relents On Exile Of African Tribal Ruler

Seretse May Stay In Own Country Till Child Born; Averts Trouble

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Attlee took cognizance today of the stork and modified the hotly-controversial order making Seretse Khama and his white bride exiles from their African tribal kingdom.

Attlee said the tribal king might live in his British-protected homeland until his London-born wife bears the child she expects late in June.

News of the government's modified position leaked out after a private caucus of Labor Party members. Many of them had angrily criticized their leaders, saying they were pandering to the race prejudices of Commonwealth countries in Africa.

But both Attlee and Patrick Gordon-Walker, the minister for Commonwealth relations, stressed the government's five-year banishment order would be invoked after Seretse's wife has her baby. Then all three of them will be called on to leave.

Seretse will be asked to promise not to stir up tribal antagonism. Whether he accepts remains to be seen.

Seretse said in an interview earlier this week he would go back to Bechuanaland as soon as he received approval from the British government.

MAKES ACCUSATION

He had accused Britain of "double crossing" him in inducing him to come to London for talks and then slapping down its banishment order.

The government, with its hair-breadth parliamentary majority of six seats, found itself in a tough spot, a storm of political press and public criticism of the action burst loose.

11 R.A.F. Men Killed When Two 4-Engine Bombers Crash

LONDON (AP)—Two R.A.F. four-engined bombers crashed within an hour early today, killing 11 men.

The planes were Lincoln bombers, modernized version of the wartime Lancasters and now the standard R.A.F. bomber ships.

The first crash occurred about 1.30 a.m. local time when a plane returning from a training flight overshot the runway at Hemswell R.A.F. station. Five crew members were killed and the sixth was injured.

The second crash came almost an hour later as another Lincoln bomber struck a Welsh mountainside in the darkness. The plane crashed about 2,000 feet up on the slopes of Carnedd Llewelyn, 3,484-foot peak near Snowdon, Wales.

All six men in the bomber's crew were killed. Their bodies were recovered by R.A.F. rescue squads in the early afternoon after a wide search over the rugged Welsh mountainside.

The Welsh plane crash was the second in Wales in three days. Last Sunday 80 persons were killed in the worst air disaster in history when a Tudor V charter plane crashed near Cardiff. There were only three survivors.

Steel Workers Union Backed

VANCOUVER (CP)—A rowdy meeting of the Vancouver Labor Council (C.C.L.) Tuesday night voted support to the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) in their attempt to take over membership of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

Fist fights threatened during debate on an appeal from the B.C. Federation of Labor for council support. George Brown of the Marine Workers' and Boilermakers' Union and Stewart Alsbury, International Woodworkers of America executive, almost exchanged punches.

Alsbury accused Brown of interference in I.W.A. affairs in 1943 in New Westminster because "some of his friends in the Labor Progressive Party were in trouble."

"He's a liar," yelled Brown.

Alshbury retorted "and you're a scab."

'The Ides Of March'

WE ARE QUOTING FROM SHAKEspeare: "'The Ides of March' are come; yes, they are come, but they are not past."

This date of March 15, 1950, has much more significance than Caesar imparted to the soothsayer—many, many years ago. We suggest this because this month has a tragic relationship to events that have left the world in a sorry state. It is fitting, moreover, to recall what Mr. Winston Churchill said on the eve of "The Ides of March" in 1936. Here is an extract from his memorable book, "Step by Step," published three years before the outbreak of the Second World War:

"There has rarely been a crisis in which Hope and Peril have presented themselves so vividly and so simultaneously upon the world scene. When Herr Hitler on Saturday last repudiated the Treaty of Locarno and marched his troops into the Rhineland, he confronted the League of Nations with its supreme trial and also with its most splendid opportunity . . . a reign of law may be established in Europe, the sanctity of treaties may be vindicated, and from that commanding eminence, Germany may be welcomed back to the family of nations upon terms which will assure her a safe and honorable future . . . the risks to be run to gain this prize are, however, serious in the last degree; they must be faced with firm convictions and a steadfast gaze unfilmed by illusion."

That was Mr. Churchill speaking in the atmosphere of "The Ides of March" in 1936. By that time, of course, he had recalled those historical precedents—linking Frederick the Great with Peter the Great. He was warning the British Parliament—then dominated by a party over which Mr. Neville Chamberlain presided—but, as a back-bencher, Mr. Churchill's words of warning fell on deaf ears. How right he was! For he was the internationalist, then, as now—and, of course, a "creature" of the House of Commons, fully appreciative of the realities.

After Hitler had sent his troops from the right bank of the great historical waterway—down which Charlemagne traveled in an earlier day—to the left bank, most students of the international scene knew—even though they did not say so as this newspaper did, the first Teutonic move toward a Second World War had been made. It would be unfair to assume, even to suggest, that the former Austrian corporal had, of himself, laid the fuse leading to the stock of explosives calculated to touch off another conflagration. But—and political and military leaders of France will acknowledge this truism—if the men at that time in charge of affairs at the Quai d'Orsay had had the intestinal fortitude to pick up the gauntlet thrown by the legions of the German Reichswehr, even the British government then in office under the direction of hesitant men like Neville Chamberlain and a Tory Whip like Captain Margesson, could have adopted no other course than that inherent in Mr. Churchill's argument after Germany had repudiated the Treaty of Locarno, a part of which reads: "They must be faced with firm convictions and a steadfast gaze unfilmed by illusion."

Admittedly, all this is harking back to history, of events that have passed, but this period of March belongs specifically to the record of modern world events, because it is the month which marked the moves of a man—now dead and unlamented—who broke the terms of every agreement to which he subscribed, and who preached peace while, at the same time, preparing for war.

Premier Stalin, the man who controls, or is trying to control, the destinies of some 190,000,000 Russians, may be contemplating "The Ides of March" with the knowledge that he and his Communist Party have won another election. It could not be otherwise. Russia's latest "appeal to the people" was conducted under principles similar to those under which Hitler and Company conducted their elections several years ago. Only one party was "up" for election. That was the single party of Joseph Stalin. Under such electoral conditions the public franchise becomes a mockery. The voice of the people means nothing.

He Won Battles For Mental Health

BECAUSE HE WAS ABLE TO RE-store to their families so many individuals who had passed through the tortures of mental illness, Dr. A. L. Crease, director of mental hospital services for this province, has earned the gratitude of an uncounted number of British Columbians. To those directly concerned, the sentiment is a very personal one. For the public at large, his devotion to his work has earned him a high measure of respect and affection. As he begins his well-earned retirement, Dr. Crease may find deep satisfaction in the knowledge that his efforts have been genuinely appreciated.

In the man who now seeks retirement, British Columbia found an individual admirably suited to his jasks. Personal kindliness and gentility were wedded in him to a determination to keep in the forefront of his profession. He enjoyed an international reputation in psychiatry. Modern techniques and methods were introduced by him in the constant battle against the frightening influences of mental troubles that afflict our people. He was among the first to use color as an aid to therapy in calming the agitated and in brightening the depressed. He was among the leaders in the use of beneficial shock treatment. In the field of child guidance, Mr. Crease was able to bring aid to parents of maladjusted children, helping them to cure the twists in young minds and to raise mentally healthy offspring.

When the government gave his name to the new psychiatric hospital for the treatment of acute mental conditions, the public recognition of Dr. Crease's accomplishments was genuinely applauded. The esteem in which he is held will be an inspiration to his able successor, Dr. Arthur Gee, who has been second in command in recent years.

Money For Roads—Roads For Progress

IT HAD BECOME QUITE COMMON A few years ago to refer to British Columbia's highway system in scathing terms. The delays in new construction occasioned by the war, the more or less temporary nature of repairs in a time of manpower shortage and scarce materials, had resulted in a backlog of work that found ready critics. But the postwar years have seen a vast improvement in the highways and roads of this province. Under Hon. E. C. Carson's energetic leadership, backed by a coalition administration that has placed British Columbia's industrial and tourist development in the forefront of its policies, the Public Works Department has carried out a program of road building that can have been second to none in the Dominion. The Hope-Princeton road and other projects, not least among which may be numbered the improved Vancouver Island Highway, tell the story. Such development has not been without its cost, and there is still much to be done. Some 280 miles of pavement to be laid this year will mean an expenditure of $3,300,000. The new Patricia Bay highway alone, based on the present route, will cost an estimated $500,000. But these are projects that the people demand. Provision of highway arteries permitting safe and speedy transportation is a prime duty of government. That duty, it would seem, is being efficiently and rapidly performed.

The old-fashioned blacksmith was honored in poetry. Few have a song in their hearts after an auto mechanic's bill is presented.

It's a problem to make anything foolproof, as there is always some fool ready to throw a monkey wrench in the machinery.

Those Who Seek Merely Security May Add Little To Our Progress

JOSEPH LISTER RUTLEDGE

WE ARE OFTEN astonished at the hold the idea of security from outside oneself has on so many people. Apart from the fact that such security is a complete delusion, it suggests a decline in our own morale.

It is only in the last generation that we have ceased to be confident in ourselves; only in recent years that we have wanted to be safe more than to be free. For it is a truism that unless you yourself provide the one, you must sacrifice the other.

CENTRAL THEME

We have talked about security so much—governments have made election issues of it, and aspiring governments have found it a ready vote-getter—that it has become the centre of our thinking.

Recently Mr. Walter Harris, newly-appointed Minister of Citizenship, interjected the security theme in speaking about some 4,000 new citizens. "They came to Canada," he said, "looking for three things, freedom, opportunity and some sort of security. Their ambitions are precisely those of everyone already here."

Perhaps Mr. Harris is partially right. Perhaps these immigrants have come looking for freedom and opportunity and security.

Many of them have had more reason for fears than we have ever had. We think that they are entitled to expect protection from any force, whether government or group or individual, that would restrict their rightful liberties. We think that we should admit to Canada only those to whom this can be assured, and with it a reasonable opportunity to work and to succeed and to provide for their own future. We do not think that we should seek new citizens among the already defeated or those who look to some artificial security.

One of Canada's great Ministers of Immigration, Sir Clifford Sifton, did much for Canada because he opened the gates for new citizens. But his policy was not blindly altruistic.

He thought first of Canada, and his demand was that new Canadians should have a contribution to make. They must fit into some immediate need.

That policy is still sound. We do not want to be a haven for the weak and defeated. We want new citizens with hope in their eyes, and enterprise and courage in their hearts. To accept less—the already fearful and hesitant—is to qualify all our future. You can't build greatly on a foundation of timidity. Open the doors, but open them only to people who can help to make a strong, courageous and independent country.

Capital Planning

CONTRIBUTED

FOR A FORTNIGHT the City of Victoria was host to what is probably one of the most interesting and unique exhibits of its kind ever assembled, that of the plan for our national capital of the future.

We all realize very well that the object of the Commission in getting this exhibit together and sending it on a Dominion-wide tour is, in modern parlance, to "sell" the Capital Plan to the country, not as if it were a new brand of soap, but as a necessary and desirable thing which is deserving of public interest and support and is much more likely to get it if it is understood and appreciated.

IF THERE IS SO MUCH value in comprehensive long range planning for the Dominion Capital, surely, with such an example before us, we cannot but realize the importance of this type of planning for our own provincial capital. But the Ottawa plan took some four years to complete because of the thoroughness of the surveys and studies which went into it. The people of Canada as a whole paid for this research and I cannot see why we should not have the benefit of it.

RECENTLY members of the Town Planning Commissions of Greater Victoria and of the City Council were invited by Mr. W. Herbert Warren, parks administrator and representatives on the Federal District Commission for British Columbia, to a private showing of the exhibit and to hear a talk by Mr. Walter Bowker, director of information for the national tour.

It was emphasized during the discussion that town planning is at least 50 per cent publicity but, given a clear understanding of what it is all about, its advantages are so obvious that one wonders why sound planning methods have not been accepted before. Actually Victoria is as far ahead as most Canadian cities in this respect, but where we appear to have missed out is in a limited approach to the question and the lack of a proper foundation on which to work.

FIRSTLY, Mr. Bowker said, planning must be on a regional basis when an urban area consists of more than one municipality. The Capital Plan takes in 30 municipalities in two provinces, and while the smaller rural municipalities are not yet planned in detail, Ottawa, Hull and their suburbs—an urban area with 250,000 inhabitants — are planned as a single economic, social and cultural whole without regard to civic boundaries. The Ottawa area's expansion to a predicted half million population over the next half century can be carried out more economically and better municipal services can be provided if the city and its four municipalities work together as one unit rather than independently as several. This can be accomplished by amalgamation of municipalities or by establishment of a metropolitan area in which municipalities retain their identity but share utilities and services under joint control. Ottawa has decided upon amalgamation, and already has annexed the urban parts of two of its largest suburbs.

CLOSELY RELATED to the principle of regional planning, said Mr. Bowker, was the advisability of placing a practical limit to future urban expansion. In the Ottawa plan, this is accomplished by circling the future limits by a controlled rural belt, a strip of land three to five miles wide zoned for agricultural use or as open space. This "green belt" has three main purposes, and they can be applied to almost any city. It ensures a close, permanent source of market garden produce for the city; prevents dangerous and uneconomic ribbon development along highways radiating out from the city; and sets a definite limit upon future urban expansion.

THIS LATTER is most important from a dollar and cents point of view. When coupled with zoning and population density control it ensures that extension of water and sewerage services into areas as they develop always will be adequate for the future populations because the number of people they have to serve will be known in advance. Roads will be wide enough and in the right directions and, most important, school, playground and park areas, community centres, shopping centres and all civic needs can be planned in advance. The ground for these can be reserved before it is built up.

A CITY PLAN, however thorough and well made, is just a piece of paper unless it is made effective, Mr. Bowker said. This is brought about by zoning by-laws, the legal basis of which may vary between municipalities and provinces. The main point here, he said, was that zoning must be on an overall basis if property values were to be established and maintained.

IT IS OBVIOUS from the foregoing that planning is a job for experts and they are well worth their hire. Mr. Bowker said that everywhere the Capital Plan exhibit has been shown he has found that it focussed attention on local planning problems and, where it has not already been done, invariably he is asked just what is involved in setting up a city plan.

The first thing, he said, is to hire a city planner and create a permanent city planning department. He stressed the permanent nature of the job, saying that even after the plan is made, it still has to be carried out and a full time planner is just as necessary to a municipality as a city engineer or city clerk. So far as he knew, one could be obtained for an average salary of between $5,000 and $6,000 per year. The expensive part was the making of a master plan, which might take from one to two years, largely depending on the size of the region and the accuracy and extent of existing basic systems.

Fishing In The Red Sea?

As Our Readers See It

YOU MAY!

May I, through the medium of your paper, express my opinion on the possibility of having beer sold by the glass in hotels or other establishments in Victoria?

Considering the millions now being spent on this, the consumption of which leads to so much suffering, death and broken homes, it takes very little reasoning powers to realize that an increase would be detrimental to our people. Surely there are enough intelligent voters in the city who are sufficiently interested in the welfare of the present generation, to turn this down again.

A city without a beer parlor is a priceless heritage, and I trust that all Christian people are earnestly praying that we shall not lose it.

(Mrs.) J. M. HOPKINS

3843 Carey Rd.

THE POINT OF VIEW

Now that there is a prospect of a real Trans-Canada Highway being constructed, it is only natural that there should be many suggestions put forward as to where the terminus should be.

But there should be complete accord on the decision to have one end of it in full view of the Atlantic Ocean, and the other end in full view of the Pacific Ocean.

On the Pacific Coast, so far, the suggestions for the terminus seem to lack this basic idea, except the one from Tofino. The Minister of Public Works, Mr. Carson, is reported as not favoring Tofino as the terminus, but Tofino, whether or not it gains official approval, has the Pacific Ocean at its front door. The same cannot be said of any of the other places mentioned as a probable terminus.

Tourists coming from the east, the prairies and the Interior want to see the Pacific Ocean, without their view being cluttered up by landscape. Imagine poor George Warren's face when some tourists—preferably dames—demand to be shown the Pacific Ocean and all he can point to is the Straits of Fuca, a 15-mile strip of water with mountains in the background.

EDWIN CLARK.

Shirley, R.R. No. 2, Victoria.

SEVEN POINTS

As a member of the Seventh-day Adventist Denomination, I am opposed to the serving of beer by the glass because:

(1) Alcoholic liquors do not produce straight thinking.

(2) The sale of such drinks is robbery for there is no equivalent return.

(3) This would keep the temptation constantly before those trying to reform from such habits as well as to make it easier for the youth especially to be speeded on to a drunkard's course.

(4) I believe that in voting for such an action I would be held responsible by God for helping to make drunkards out of many who are capable of being much more than that.

(5) The money thus more easily spent is being robbed from the mother and children, who need it for food and clothing.

(6) This drink is a poison, made from God given fruits and grains, which brings only misery and ruin.

(7) Alcoholic drinks are to a great degree responsible for many of those people found in houses of prostitution, dens of vice, criminal courts, prisons, almshouses, insane asylums.

IVAN SCHABER

2014 Fernwood Rd.

USUAL CUSTOM

I was rather shocked when I first arrived here to find that it was the usual custom for people to take bottles of liquor to dances or other functions because they were not able to buy drinks by the glass wherever they went.

The fact that they took bottles with them and were not able to buy liquor by the glass, surely encourages them to drink more than they would if they were able to purchase it in smaller quantities.

To prevent our restaurants from becoming beer parlours it should be possible to make a minimum charge for a meal wherever drink was ordered.

There are more official restrictions here, but I have seen far more drunkenness here than I ever saw in England and on the continent—where they are more reasonable about drink. The remedy, therefore is to be found in more commonsense methods, but certainly not by suppressing the problem.

(Mrs.) R. S. CHOPE.

1028 Sutlej St.

SO BE IT

It would be interesting to know how Rev. F. A. Peake, who spoke in Victoria last week defines "the cardinal doctrines of the Christian Faith." That faith is interpreted in so many ways.

Should not our Department of Education be congratulated for doing all it can to prevent young minds from being confused by the different interpretations?

The December number of the B.C. Parent Teacher News emphasises the vital need for teaching "Citizenship through Love." Or, in other words, for practicing the Christian ethic. This ethic is the basis of the "progressive" education of today. True, there is much to be learnt as to the best ways of practicing it.

It is very sad that ecclesiasticism still clings to theology which, throughout history, has confused thought and handicapped fellowship.

MARIAN SHERMAN

2901 Seaview Rd.

PROUD BUT PRACTICAL

Ottawa Journal

In our modern civilization, when transportation and communication are vital to life, roads, for which there is only so much money, just can't be built as ornaments, or as stimulants for national pride. They must be built to meet needs, to serve communities, to serve farmers and business. Accordingly, if by putting vast sums into a Trans-Canada highway we were compelled to neglect roads vital to our needs, to neglect roads which would be used far more than the Trans-Canada would be used, we should scarcely be sensible.

A country needs to be proud; it also needs to be practical.

FOR OLDSTERS

Christian Science Monitor

Training for a job would make an older woman here and there employable and enormously brighten her life. It is an all-too-common problem of some middle-aged women to find themselves in need of earning a living though they have had no previous work experience, the Women's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor points out. Also, the older employed woman, like the older man, may frequently be thoroughly capable of shifting into new work if retrained.

GLOBAL SURVEY

By DeWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press News Analyst

ONE of the toughest decisions a man could face was that called for from exiled King Leopold III of the Belgians in Switzerland yesterday by Belgium Premier Gaston Eyskens.

Sunday's plebiscite in Belgium showed 57.68 per cent of those voting desired Leopold to return to his capital and resume his throne. Now Eyskens wanted to know His Majesty's desire. There were two alternatives:

1. The King could signify a wish to accept this vote as a mandate from the people for him to return.

2. He could turn the tiny majority down as too small, and abdicate in favor of Crown Prince Baudouin.

Many observers held that the second alternative was, from almost any angle one viewed it, the logical one to choose. Indeed, the Premier was reported so to have advised the King at the outset of their fateful meeting.

Why this harsh second alternative, which meant that Leopold must sacrifice his birthright? A majority had voted for him.

Well, the true answer lies in that tiny majority.

In these days of democracy there is only one reason for the existence of a king. He is the emblem of unity—high above politics—binding together all classes and parties and creeds.

A king must have the love and support of all his people—not half, or three-quarters, but all of them. Approval of 57.68 per cent of the voters isn't good enough by a long shot, or of 75 per cent or of any much less than the absolute maximum.

There are strong divisions in the Belgian population—political, racial, religious. If the country's constitutional monarchy is to be a success the king must be above these differences. Destiny has pushed Leopold into some situations which have made him also the subject of controversy.

One of these events was his surrender of the Belgian army to the invading Germans at the outbreak of the war. That was a terrific blow to the allied cause, and brought about the British disaster at Dunkerque. Leopold was assailed not only by the allies but by his own people.

Sunday's referendum, instead of deciding the issue, served to accentuate differences among the Belgian population regarding the ruler. Leopold was pushed into a position where the wise decision seemed abdication in favor of his son. In any event, he was forbidden to return to Belgium pending permission by Parliament.

WISHFUL THINKING

Ottawa Journal

Back in Canada after two years in their own country members of a Yugoslav family stood in Toronto's railway station and wept for joy. And a correspondent of the Chicago Daily News tells of Yugoslav children taught to chant "There is no God." There's a lot of wishful thinking among too many, we fear, about Mr. Tito.

INVESTING IN OUR NORTH

Edmonton Journal

A relatively small number of Canadians have long recognized that the vast resources of the northland present a splendid opportunity for financial investment in this country's future. It is gratifying to see the ranks of those who hold this "bullish" outlook on the north being swelled nowadays by additions from the Canadian world of finance.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"WELL," said the Elevator Man, "I see where a shipload of millionaires has arrived in Naples aboard a luxury liner. And a riotous time they're having — I don't think! It seems that although the menus are a mile long and filled with French cooking that would melt in your mouth, nobody orders anything but crackers and milk. The chef can't sell his sauces. The bar tender can't sell his drinks. And the reason, according to a waiter on the ship, is that everyone aboard except the crew has stomach ulcers. What a situation. Surrounded by luxury and living like babies in a nursery. Going up!

"That," said the Elevator Man, "is one of the most pathetic things I've heard of. And I'm not sure it should be given too much publicity. What about the effect on our young people that we're always urging on to success and wealth? How can we point out the virtues of thrift and hard work as a way to win riches if they answer, 'Yeah, and see what happens to you.' We spur them on to win caviar and champagne—but all they can handle when they get there is crackers and milk. That's enough to discourage anybody. Going down!

"There's something," said the Elevator Man, "sort of lonely about great wealth, I guess. You'd naturally stick to people in the same income bracket, and there's so few of them around. Now in my income bracket, I never feel alone. In fact, around this time of the month I begin to feel crowded. I guess I'll be able to avoid having a million dollars—but it looks like I might end up with the crackers and milk after all."

THE HOME GARDEN

Plant Parsnips Early, Thinly In Any Soil

JACK G. BEASTALL

Although the snowstorm of last week, and the ensuing frosts, were fair warning that it is still too early to do extensive outside planting, there are a few hardy, long-season vegetables which require immediate attention. Parsnips and onions come in this category.

The parsnip, a vegetable known to the Romans, was a popular garden subject 20 years ago, but today many say they are unable to eat them. This may be due to some housewives who are unaware of the many tasty ways parsnips may be served aside from boiling. Being medium rich in vitamins B1 and C, the sunshine vitamin, they form an important part of the winter diet.

ANY SOIL WILL DO

As to the type of soil needed, parsnips will have to be satisfied with whatever soil you have on your lot. Most important is that it be free of lumps and fresh manure in order that straight roots may develop.

Choose a place where the crop may be left in the ground during winter, for they have a better flavor after the first frosts Allow 130 days from seeding to maturity and be sure to buy fresh seed because longevity is only one year.

The popular varieties are Hollow Crown and Improved Hollow Crown but there are others worth trying. For shallow soils try Improved Short Thick, six to eight inches long; Guernsey (or Student), five to seven inches; All America, 10 inches. All these are listed in Canadian catalogues.

SOW THINLY

The seed, which is comparatively large, should be sown thinly about one half-inch deep. Germination is slow in the open therefore it is wise to put a few lettuce or radish seeds at intervals of two feet along the drill. These germinate quickly and act as markers which greatly facilitates weeding and cultivation.

Seedlings are thinned to three inches apart, and the crop will respond to good fertilizing and cultivation during the growing season.

Commission Criticized For Spending Without Authority

Members of the Memorial Arena Commission had their fingers severely slapped Tuesday, for spending money without the authorization of City Council.

The civic fathers minced no words at the council meeting in passing unanimously a resolution with regard to capital expenditures.

Ald. William Pinfold, member of the arena committee said a letter from the committee would follow the resolution, advising commission members they would be held personally liable in future.

"On numerous occasions we pointed out to the commission that they have no right to spend money without getting authority from City Council, but they are still doing it," he said.

The resolution drew commission's attention to the fact that the arena by-law "definitely sets forth that no contracts or pledging of the credit of the city is permitted."

"Before any such action can be taken a resolution of the council authorizing the contract or establishment of credit must first be obtained," the resolution continued. "This is in reference to capital expenditure, not to management costs."

WRONG IMPRESSION

In looking over the financial statement Ald. Waldo Skillings complained that though there was an operating profit of $28,000 for the first seven months, a deficit of $3,271 was shown.

"The impression around now is that the arena is carrying itself and that is not true," Ald. Skillings said. "I want the citizens to know where the operating surplus is going; it is going into capital expenditure.

"Instead of handing over $28,000 to the city, we have a deficit of $3,271."

He said he pointed the matter out to substantiate his claim of some months ago that the arena would cost more than $1,000,000. Offhand Henry Watson, assistant city comptroller placed capital expenditure to date at $1,008,000.

Flood Forecasts Delayed In B.C.

Flood forecasts for the province will not be made by the water rights branch for the provincial government until the end of the month, it was learned Tuesday.

Officials said all snow courses will have been measured by March 31.

TO TAKE PIN FROM LUNG

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)—A bad cough that had hung on for a month turned out to be a pin lodged in two-year-old Linda Nickerson's lung, medical investigation revealed. The straight pin will be removed in a Vancouver hospital in a day or two.

Liquor Laws Need Changing Speakers Say

Provincial liquor laws came up for discussion at a meeting of the tourist trade group of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday and after debate ended, the majority of members seemed to think the laws needed broadening.

No definite stand was taken, though. The 19 members decided they were too few to put the group on record.

It was agreed the matter had better stand until the group's annual meetinng next month. Attendance, it was thought, would be better then.

"We're losing an awful lot of business because we can't serve liquor," Kent Jordan, hotel representative said.

A. J. Watson, retired department store executive, said the liquor question was a contentious matter but suggested if broadening the laws would be helpful to the tourist industry, the chamber's tourist group, should be in favor.

Capt. O. J. Williams, manager of the C.P.R.'s B.C. Coast Service had this to offer:

"If we're going to be dependent on the only industry we have—the tourist industry — then we must find out what service the tourists want and give it to them."

Says Insects Thrive In Modern-Type Home

Wood touching earth, crevices, dampness, air shafts and dark pantries. They are all invitations to termites, ants, moths and beetles, Dr. G. J. Spencer, U.B.C. entomologist, warned members of the University Extension Association at the Victoria College.

Most modern homes were constructed the way insects liked them, Dr. Spencer said.

The speaker noted that clothes moths were found in Canada long before Columbus discovered the New World, but other troublesome insects were relatively newcomers.

Opposition Members Raise Voices Against Expenditure Reductions

BY LLOYD BAKER

BIG SHOUT in the House Tuesday, and strangely enough most of the noise came from the C.C.F., was against reductions in estimated expenditures of the Attorney-General's Department in the coming year.

Usually the Opposition has a lot to say about the government being too free with its dollars, not too spendthrift.

But such was not the case this time as discussion of proposed spending got in to full swing.

INCREASED DELINQUENCY had Opposition Leader Harold Winch worried, and he thought Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb might find a little more money to deal with the situation.

He wanted a review of the delinquency problem as it exists in B.C., and a statement from the government on how it proposed to effect curbs.

The question brought from Attorney-General Wismer the statement that the probation system, introduced by his predecessor, the late R. L. Maitland, saved thousands of young men from prison, and a sinking further in to the quicksands of crime.

"This is part of our program," he said.

Also, Mr. Wismer revealed plans to build an addition at Oakalla Prison Farm to facilitate a program of rehabilitation and reform of prisoners.

"It's no use releasing these men from prison if they haven't been trained for some lawful occupation," he said.

FATHER OF THE C.C.F. leader, E. E. Winch, was next in line at the teller's cage. He wanted the government to build a new women's jail. The present women's quarters at Oakalla were poorly situated.

Another Opposition member, C.C.F. whip Arthur Turner, pushed him aside to ask for rehabilitation facilities for prisoners away from Oakalla, which the Attorney-General said he would consider after immediate needs had been met.

Mr. Turner wasn't satisfied to stop there. He put in an order for construction of a cottage for the matron at the Prince George "annex" of the Oakalla women's jail.

THEN CAME the most noise, with private members joining in the chorus of complaint against a $14,000 cut in Game Branch appropriation.

Down the lines it went, on both sides of the House, members popping up like jacks-in-the-box to scold, cry, curse and complain.

Leo Nimsick, C.C.F. member for Cranbrook, started the ball rolling. Then came his stablemate Randolph Harding, from Kaslo-Slocan. Andrew Whisker, Cln.-Cowichan, Newcastle, jumped next, and from there on the talk was fast and furious from other Coalition members in this order: Maurice Finnerty, Similkameen; J. G. Gould, Vancouver-Burrard; Charles Morrow, North Okanagan; Douglas Turnbull, Rossland-Trail; W. A. C. Bennett, South Okanagan.

Legion Official To Address Vets

Membership drive of the Prince Edward branch of the Canadian Legion at Langford is expected to be stimulated this evening when Ralph Davidson, assistant to the secretary of the provincial command, addresses a meeting open to all veterans. He will speak in the community's Legion Hall starting at 8.

Mr. Davidson is on a speaking tour of the lower island. He spoke at Sooke Tuesday and will address the Victoria Naval Veterans' branch Friday night, after which he will attend the Esquimalt branch's dance.

Sunday night he will meet the Malahat branch at Cobble Hill; Monday, Duncan; Tuesday, Lake Cowichan; Wednesday, Chemains, and Thursday, Ladysmith.

JETS COLLIDE TWO MILES UP

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—Three jet airmen parachuted safely from planes that collided Tuesday two miles up in the sky above the Sandia secret weapons base.

Two of the fliers received minor injuries. The third was not hurt. The airmen were picked up by city police in the foothills of the Manzano Mountains just east of Albuquerque.

Entertain Veterans

Veterans' Hospital patients were entertained recently by a group of artists sponsored by the Victoria Elks Lodge No. 2 of the B.P.O.E.

Percy Fitzsimmons, the master of ceremonies, was assisted by George Davis, Cecil Heaton, George Todd, Stan James, Frank Merryfield, Art Waldon, James Matheson, Bert White, and the Velda Willie dancers, Myrna Smith, Maralyn Ferguson, D. Coles and Dianne Tippetts.

$92,000,000 Road Building In Seven Years

The provincial government is planning to abandon its $40,000,000 highway construction program announced last year for a three-year period, in favor of a $92,000,000 seven-year plan for road work.

Announcement of the change is expected to be made in the Legislature soon when a bill is introduced authorizing the use of the three cents gasoline tax as security for loans to pay for the extended program.

The plan calls for the allocation of $16,500,000 this year, $12,500,000 in each of the next five years, and $13,500,000 in 1956.

It is understood the plan of utilizing the gas tax was devised when the government found it was over spending on the highway building program.

LEWIS CALLS DRILL FOR ALL-STAR SOCCER CLUB

Manager Charlie Lewis of the Victoria and District League All-Star soccer team has called the first practice for the club at Macdonald Park tonight at 7.30.

In naming the team to meet Victoria United in the annual Juvenile Day match on Good Friday, Lewis has picked at least one member from each of the eight city teams.

Of the 17 players named Esquimalt tops the list with four—Alf Jenkins, Denny Shubrooke, Don Robinson and Art Young. Oak Bay, Victoria West and Heaney's each have three—Arnie Ferguson Jack Thompson and Ron Woolcock representing the Bays and Norm Richards, Jim Turner and Bill Hope the greenshirts.

For Heaney's it's Jack Robbins, Tim Walker and Joe Robbins. The Duncan selection is Elmer Henry, while Dave Mayne represents Canadian Legion, Moon Evans the Aleos, and John Kennedy the Navy.

Fans Force Hall To Yell For Cops

Cannot Take 'Treatment' As Cougars Roll To Win

Victoria hockey fans have waited all season to get back at owner Coley Hall of the Vancouver Canucks and they paid him off in full last night at the Memorial Arena. With the Canucks fighting a life-and-death struggle to make the Coast League playoffs, a fighting gang of Cougars whipped them to the tune of 5 to 2.

With Tacoma beating New Westminster by a 7 to 3 score the Rockets took over sole command of second place. The defeat means Vancouver still faces a knockdown fight with Portland and Seattle for a berth in the post-season series.

When Cougars forged into the lead at 3 to 2 in the third period, after being down 2 to 0 early in the second, several hundred fans treated Hall to the works. Standing in the runway alongside the Vancouver players' bench, Coley finally had to holler for police protection as some of the more rabid fans threatened physical action.

With the arrival of the law, Hall took up a position on the bench but still was the subject of a barrage of razzing. On the final whistle he beat a hasty retreat and was out one of the side doors to save himself further punishment.

OUTPOINT VISITORS

Cougars won on their merits. The win was no fluke as they outplayed the Canucks all the way and were unfortunate to ever be down two goals. In addition the Victoria team received no breaks from referee Bill Knott, a couple of local penalties being questionable.

Victoria dressing-room was a scene of bedlam at the finish. "That was like winning the Stanley Cup," chirped captain Bernie Strongman. In walked business manager Fred Hutchinson grinning from ear to ear. "You may be a cellar hockey club but you won yourself a lot of fans tonight," he remarked.

Although beaten five times goalie Lucien Dechene came up with a spectacular performance. He kept the Canucks in the hockey game in the second period as he literally robbed the Cougars of at least six goals. Four times Larry Thibeault was right in on top of him and failed to hit the net while Strongman and Russ Kopak also had wide open shots.

All against the run of the play Bob Ballance gave Canucks the lead at 6.56 of the first period, Andy Chakowski and Scotty McPherson drawing assists. Second period was at the 1.16 mark when Chakowski made it 2 to 0 with Bill Shill assisting. Eddie Marineau was in the penalty box at the time.

Then the Cougars started to roll. Jack McIntyre broke Dechene's spell when he caught the top corner of the net on a pass from Tom Rockey. Joe Evans also got an assist.

EVANS TIES SCORE

It was at 5.37 of the third period that Evans brought the house down, flipping home Len Mutcheson's pass to tie the score. Continuing to hold Canucks inside their own zone, Georges Bougie fired the winning goal, deflecting Rockey's blue line shot past the surprised Dechene.

With Thibeault in the penalty box Canucks put on the pressure but Flori Goegan intercepted a pass just inside his own blue line and skated the length of the ice to beat Dechene cleanly. Desperate Canucks pulled their goalie and put six forwards on the ice with six minutes and 55 seconds of play remaining. The strategy backfired when McIntyre shot an 180-foot shot into the empty cage. That was the hockey game.

Just to make Hall's nightmare even worse a prominent Victoria lawyer raeched over the railing, with seconds remaining, and offered Coley a $1 bill for the purchase of his hockey club.

Hall's reply cannot be printed.

RAY FAMECHON GOT HIS WISH AGAINST PEP

Will Likely Wind Up Without Franc For Friday's Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Ray Famechon is a confident, determined Frenchman who came to the United States with only one purpose—to win the world's featherweight championship from Willie Pep.

"Get me Pep or I'll go home," said the European featherweight king. "It's Pep or nothing."

What he got was Pep and nothing. The contracts call for him to receive 10 per cent of the net gate for his title 15-rounder with Pep in Madison Square Garden Friday night. The champ from Hartford will get 40 per cent.

Rangy Ray's cut will come to about $7,000. When income taxes and expenses are figured, the 25-year-old Frenchman probably will wind up without a franc.

But that doesn't bother the former coal miner as much as some remarks dropped by wily Willie at Hartford, Conn.

Asked how he planned to fight Famechon, Pep said: "If he walks in there like they say he does, I'm going to move around him and jab. I'm going to try to stop him with face cuts."

When Famechon heard of it he gave out with the Gallic equivalent of "you're kidding?"

The Man With The Yellow Gloves Made Coleman E. Suffer But Good

By BILL WALKER

Coleman E. Hall, the master of 'em all. You got to hand it to owner of the Vancouver Canucks. He's strictly box office in this town. He has been all season and he was again last night.

From the time he stepped out of a taxi at the Memorial Arena entrance at about 10 minutes past eight until he left the building by a side entrance (shame) after the game was over, Hall was a marked man.

What does he look like? Is that him? Which one? He's not bad looking? These and other remarks could be heard through the evening until that fateful moment when George Bougie put the Cougars ahead in the third period.

It was then that everyone in the building knew what Mr. Hall looked like and where he was.

Until the third frame Hall had been moving about apparently quite happy about the way his Canucks were performing. But come the third period and Hall stationed himself slightly to the north of coach Bill Carse and the Canucks. Things were getting rough.

TAKES THE BAIT

When Bougie scored, Hall got it but good. The fans, a rabid bunch if you ever saw one, decided to let Hall have all their abuse and taking the cue from a couple of well-dressed gentlemen in the front row of the mezzanine seats directly behind the Vancouver bench finally got Coley to snap at the bait.

First there was one policeman beside Mr. Hall, then two and finally three. A lot of finger wagging went on. Far more words, most of Mr. Hall's being unprintable. Either Mr. Hall was worried for the one of the few times in his life or else he just decided it might be safer if protected by his players. At any rate he holed up in the players' box.

The man with the yellow gloves and the gent in the dark coat were in their glory and backed by the Cougars who were rubbing it in on the ice the pair had a field day at Mr. Hall's expense. Coley now was directly in front of the box and not being deaf, his ears were slightly crimson. But Coley knows a few words himself and never being noted for being shy or a retiring nature, Hall aptly supplied the answers.

The score was 5 to 2. It could have been 10 to 2. The Cougars were that good.

But Hall stayed around. And he would have stayed around if the margin had been greater than it was.

He can take it as well as dish it out.

Joe Kahut Puts Over Knockout

PORTLAND (AP) — Oregon Joe Kahut knocked out big Bill Petersen of Chicago in the fourth round of their featured heavyweight boxing bout here Tuesday night.

Kahut, 182 pounds, had put the Chicago fighter, weighing 217, down for a nine count seconds earlier after staggering back from the canvas on a similar count when Petersen floored him with a left hook on the button.

The knockout to the chin came at 2.39 of the fourth round of their scheduled 15-round match for the Pacific Northwest heavyweight title claimed by Petersen.

PORTLAND, Me.—Al Couture, 159, Lewiston, Me., outpointed Bob Stecher, 156, Portland, Me. (10).

Adam Sets New Scoring Mark

Doug Adam of the Tacoma Tacoma Rockets last night officially set a new Pacific Coast Hockey League scoring mark when he scored his 51st goal of the season in the Rockets' 7 to 3 triumph over New Westminster Royals.

The previous mark was held by Pat Desbiens of the Portland Penguins who last year scored 50 goals.

Meanwhile Mel Read of the Rockets moved close to establishing another record when he collected two assists to boost his season's total to 63, just one short of the record set by Bill Carse of the Vancouver Canucks in the 1948-49 season.

No Pension For Battling Nelson

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Veterans' Administration has rejected a pension application from Oscar (Battling) Nelson, 67, former word lightweight boxing champion, because it can find no record that he ever served in the army.

Nelson, who now lives in Chicago, would be entitled to a $90-a-month pension if proof can be found of his claim that he saw service in the Spanish-American War, an administration official said.

Schedule Cup Golf

Postponed last Friday due to unseasonal snowfall, first-round competition in the women's Darcus Cup play will get under way Friday at Uplands Golf Club.

Competitors are advised that the draw, as published last week, will remain the same for Friday's matches.

Don Avery Will Join Calgary

CALGARY (CP)—Don Avery, tackle with Washington Redskins for the last three years, has been signed by Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, it was learned today from Coach Les Lear, presently scouting in California.

Avery is 27, stands six feet five and weighs 250 pounds.

He is the first United States import signed by Stampeders for the 1950 campaign.

Major Ice Clubs Jockey For Berths

Hockey's major league moguls are scouting the backwoods these days looking for reserve strength for the coming National Hockey League playoffs and a stab at the Stanley Cup.

They need the new blood to take the strain off injury-worn veterans returning to the hockey wars and also to save their shock troops for the crucial battles ahead.

With only a week and a half left of the league's first 70-game schedule, the shuffle for the last three playoff spots (Detroit Red Wings have virtually clinched first place) is developing into a free-for-all.

The clubs' anxiety regarding the last three places is explained by the fact it means extra money besides the chance at the cup. Thus the second-place club gets an extra $500 a player, the third-place outfit $350, and the fourth $150.

All four clubs banging away at the playoff places go into action tonight. Second-place Toronto meets the last-place Black Hawks at Chicago; third-place Canadiens encounter the Wings at Detroit, and the hungry New York Rangers will try to erase Boston Bruins' last chance to make the playoffs. All the fourth-place Rangers need is a tie to wipe out the Bruins' last mathematical chance.

SANDFORD THROUGH

Bruins suffered a blow last night when they were forced to order big Ed Sandford, their prize 21-year-old forward, to quit playing for the rest of the season because of a severed tendon.

Rangers will have their spark-plug, Edgar Laprade, back in action. Laprade, who missed eight of the Blueshirts' last nine games because of a knee injury, couldn't return at a better time. The Rangers played like minor leaguers while absorbing defeats in their last two games.

Canadiens will have Elmer Lach back in action for their joust with Detroit. He missed one game with a sore elbow. But star goalie Bill Durnan is still on the sick list with a head injury. He's missed five games but is expected back in action Thursday night when Montreal has a return bout with the Wings.

Great Atlas In Main Bout Of Mat Card

Wrestling will hold forth again Saturday night at the Armories.

Matchmaker Rocky Brooks announced today he will bring the Great Atlas to town for his main event with Ted Bell providing the opposition. Atlas is the arrogant fellow who likes to strut around the ring flexing his muscles and showing off his physique.

Brooks has also arranged for the return of Danno Macdonald with his opponent to be named later in the week. Sakata, 190-pound Hawaiian Japanese will appear in the semiwindup. It will be his first appearance here and his opponent has yet to be selected.

First bout will start at 8.30.

Eddie Powers To Coach Richmond

VANCOUVER (CP) — Eddie Powers, coach of Hamilton Tigers, Canadian lacrosse finalists last year, will boss Richmond Farmers of the Pacific Coast Lacrosse League this season, Richmond president Len Webb said today. Webb added that Powers may act as playing-coach.

The Farmers have also invited Blain McDonald, main offensive spark for Tigers last season, to play with them this year.

ONE MINUTE NEWS ABOUT JOHNS-MANVILLE

WARSHIP SAILS WITHOUT POWDER

During the war, a big aircraft carrier was at sea when an alarming discovery was made. A vitally needed material was missing! The ship put back and waited while a rush supply was delivered by air.

What was this material that a carrier couldn't do without? It was a special grade of Johns-Manville Celite—a vital powder to filter oil from the water that supplies a ship's boilers.

Johns-Manville research has made Celite a really valuable product. You'll find it in writing paper, auto polish and DDT . . . as a filter aid for penicillin and sulfa and as a high temperature insulation for industry. For details on how Celite can be used in your industry, write Johns-Manville, 199 Bay St., Toronto.

HOCKEY CROWN APPEARS IN BAG

Bookmakers Make Edmonton Club 5-2 Favorites To Capture Title

LONDON (CP) — Edmonton Mercurys, hot favorites to win the world hockey tournament, face lowly Belgium at Wembley rink tonight in a game expected to clinch for Canada a spot in the final round-robin among the six top teams.

Fresh from an easy 13-to-2 victory over Switzerland — 24-to-3 conquerors of Belgium Monday—Canada appears a cinch to top their three-team preliminary group and roll undefeated into the final series.

London bookmakers tightened the odds to 5 to 2 on the Mercurys to carry back world honors to the Dominion.

With Czechoslovakia, the 1949 winners, absent, the teams most likely to accompany the Mercurys into the final round are Switzerland, Britain, Norway, Sweden, and either the United States or the Netherlands.

On form, Canada appears to be several goals better than all except Sweden, and the Swedes would have to spring the surprise of the season to stop the red-hot Edmonton speedsters.

OUTCLASS SWISS

The Canadians skated rings around the Swiss at Harringay Arena last night, showing superiority in every department.

But coach Jimmy Graham took no bows for the victory.

"They were nervous," he said in the dressing room. "They can play much better than that. We've got a long way to go yet."

The Mercurys looked pretty good to the 6,500 fans who watched Harry Allen, Leo Luchini and Billy Dawe collect three goals apiece to pace the attack. Ab Newsome banged home a pair of counters, while Jim Kilburn and Marsh Darling accounted for the other tallies.

Another stellar performer was big Pete Wright, who played a standout game on defence as well as leading many dangerous rushes.

It was strictly no contest after the Mercurys took a 5-to-1 lead in the first period.

Uli Poltera scored both Swiss goals.

In other games last night, Sweden polished off the Netherlands 10 to 0, and Norway trounced France 11 to 0.

FROM THE FANSTAND

By PETE SALLAWAY, Times Sports Editor

Plans are afoot to organize an intercity league for senior men's softball teams from Victoria, Nanaimo, Vancouver and New Westminster. Softballers in the four cities have been contacted by the B.C. association to learn if there is sufficient interest to go ahead with organization of such a circuit. Games would be played on week-ends and would be in additional to regular league fixtures.

Lackie Works On Team Already

From the grapevine I have been informed the local senior league is against the scheme. It appears the league plans to operate games during week-ends and naturally is against any new loop which would provide a counter attraction. Jim Lackie, manager of last year's Douglas Tire, is one who favors the scheme. "I think it would be the making of softball in the province and would provide the fans of the four cities with a smart calibre of play," he said.

Although still engaged in a bitter hockey series for the city Commercial League crown, with his Douglas Tire squad, Lackie has already started building a softball club for the coming campaign. Allan Senior, who failed to make the grade with the Cougars hockey club, finishing out the season with Vernon, is back in town and had an interview with Lackie yesterday. Senior is reported no slouch as a softball pitcher.

Parks Boss Warren Criticized

Officials of the Victoria United football team are still hot under the collar over cancellation of last Saturday's scheduled match with Vancouver City. Game was called off Friday afternoon when Herb Warren, city parks supervisor, declared Athletic Park unfit for play owing to the unexpected fall of snow.

As one official pointed out, "United team was idle on the best day, from a weather standpoint, we have experienced all season, while the local senior clubs were busy both Saturday and Sunday on other fields. Warren's action probably cost us our best gate to date."

This is not the first time the soccer interests and Warren have not seen eye to eye. Of course their viewpoints are different. Soccer officials are mainly interested in the promotion of their sport while Warren is determined to protect his grounds. Would seem the parks boss was a little hasty in reaching his decision.

Six Cougars Strip Every Game

Checking over the roster of the Victoria Cougars one finds that only six players have stripped for every one of the club's games. The list of "Ironmen" includes defencemen Fiori Goegan, Eddie Marineau, Bernie Strongman and Tom Rockey and forwards Georges Bougie and Joe Evans.

For the first time in four years goalie Jerry Fodey hoped to complete the string until he missed last Saturday night's game at Tacoma through a bad gash over his right eye suffered here the previous night in a game against Seattle.

Displaying fine sportsmanship through the season the Chinese Students were recently successful in capturing the Victoria and district intermediate B boys' basketball championship. The team was defeated in the Vancouver Island playdowns. # Pittsburgh Loses Kiner; Giants Display Finesse

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (UP)—Ralph Kiner escaped with a slightly sprained right wrist today as a result of his head-over-heels tumble in the Pittsburgh Pirates' 12 to 7 victory over the Chicago White Sox yesterday.

Pirate officials said the homer king probably would be lost to the team for "a few games." Kiner suffered the injury when he tripped over first-baseman Herman Reich in the fourth inning.

X-rays taken late last night revealed no break although Kiner said he felt considerable pain.

The Pirates play the Sacramento Solons of the Coast League today.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UP)—"Get two" is the new battle cry in the New York Giants' camp and Alvin Dark and Eddie Stanky are doing just that.

The standout keystone combination obtained in the big winter deal with the Boston Braves reeled off two more double plays as the Giants beat the Cleveland Indians 5 to 3 yesterday. They have made four double plays in the last two games.

SAIN GOES TODAY

TAMPA, Fla. (UP)—Two of the National League's great name pitchers were the chief topics of conversation as the Cincinnati Reds and Boston Braves met in an exhibition game today.

Johnny Sain, Boston's three-time 20-game winner who slumped to 10 victories in 1949, was to start for the first time this spring today while Ewell Blackwell, the Reds' brilliant right-hander, was named to hurl against the Washington Senators next Saturday.

Manager Luke Sewell said Blackwell "would go as far as he sees fit." Blackwell, who underwent an operation for the removal of a kidney a year ago and has not been right since, weighs about 200 pounds—20 more than at any time last season.

The Reds beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 7 to 5, yesterday, while the Braves lost to the St. Louis Cardinals, 5 to 3.

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (UP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers' hospital list numbered 14 players following the addition of Jackie Robinson and Billy Cox today.

Robinson pulled a tendon in his left leg sliding into second base as the Dodgers beat their Mobile farmhands, 4 to 1, in Vero Beach Tuesday. Cox suffered an eye injury when first-baseman Wayen Belardi collided with him attempting to catch an infield fly.

The Dodgers take their first look at Connie Mack's Athletics, who enjoyed a day off Tuesday afternoon.

YANKEES BEATEN

CLEARWATER, Fla. (UP)—Fred Sanford had yet to prove he is the No. 5 starting pitcher for whom Casey Stengel is searching as the New York Yankees met the Philadelphia Phillies today.

Sanford was nicked for all three Detroit Tiger runs as the Tigers beat the Yankees, 3 to 1, Tuesday. Dick Kryhoski, former Yankee, was the hatchet-man, tripling with two aboard and scoring the third run in the second inning.

TUCSON, Ariz. (UP)—The Cleveland Indians were beginning to flash the power today that could make them an American League pennant threat in 1950.

The power has not been concentrated but it has been there, Larry Doby homered in Tuesday's 5 to 3 loss to the New York Giants. Luke Easter, giant negro from the Coast League, hit one the previous day.

Farm System Must Produce Declares Dyer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP)—Eddie Dyer put the far-flung Cardinal farm system on the spot today.

"It is going to have to produce some young ball players for us soon," the manager of the St. Louis Cardinals declared, "or the other National League clubs are going to out-distance us."

Not that he doesn't think the Cards won't be right up in there this season, but he was looking to the years ahead when he is going to have to replace such veterans as Marty Marion, Enos Slaughter, Harry Brecheen, Max Lanier and others.

"I guess I've become known as a stand-pat manager because I haven't been making many player changes," he said. "Well the fact of the matter is I haven't changed because our farm system hasn't come up with good young ball players to take over."

This spring Dyer is concentrating on developing an understudy for Marion "because we still are worried about his back" and a power-hitting righthanded batter to bat between Stan Musial and Slaughter.

He hopes Ed Nietopski, a youngster up from Omaha, will be able to relieve Marion and that another rookie, big Steve Bilko, who hit .310, will give him that righthanded hitting strength.

Blue Bombers Must Produce, Says President

WINNIPEG (CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers will have "no second raters on the club this year," president Ralph Misener said last night.

Misener, addressing the club executive at a dinner meeting, said "we must produce. It's do or die." Bombers finished a woeful last in the four-team Western Interprovincial Football League last season.

Misener said Bombers are fairly well away on the matter of imports from the United States, although no names have been released. However the club still needs several eastern Canada players to make a "contender."

"We are in contact with over 20 players, a number of whom are exceptionally fine football players, but getting them to decide one way or another is a problem. Many of them are settled in the east and others are just shopping around to see who offers them the highest price."

Open Masters' Golf To Added Players

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP) — The masters golf tournament scheduled for April 6 opened its entry list today for five additional players—two Americans and three foreigners.

The Yanks were added to the field by vote of their fellows as the best pro and amateur who did not qualify under the rules of the tournament. They were pro Jack Burke Jr., of White Plains, N.Y., second leading money winner of the winter, and amateur Harvie Ward of North Carolina.

Golfer Cary Middlecoff Can Hit Double Jackpot

LAKE PARK, Fla. (UP)—U.S. Open champion Cary Middlecoff was in position today to hit two jackpots in one of the richest golf tournaments in the country—the pro-amateur at the Seminole Country Club.

Going into today's final round, Middlecoff was tied for the lead both in the professional department, where he had a 36-hole score of 137, and in the best ball where he was teamed with amateur Robert D. Huntington of Palm Beach, Fla.

The Memphis dentist put himself in this commanding role by shooting a brilliant eight-under-par 64 yesterday in the second round of the pro competition. That round included six birdies and an eagle.

Tied with Middlecoff for the pro lead was Henry Ransom of St. Andrews, Ill., who is seeking his third straight victory in this tourney. Two strokes behind the two leaders were another pair at 139—former open champion Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., and Seminole assistant Dick Mayer.

Oak Bay has been drawn against the winner of the Heaney's-Esquimalt match.

Nanaimo Not Forgotten In Year's Boxla Plans

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nanaimo apparently doesn't know it, but they're still very much in the Pacific Coast Senior B Lacrosse League.

Manager Ross Brebber of the island team said Tuesday he "assumed the Pacific Coast Senior Amateur Lacrosse has become non-operative."

League president Ben Morley said today: "Nanaimo certainly hasn't been overlooked as far as the Pacific Coast League is concerned.

"Nanaimo probably thought the league had folded because we are late in holding our annual meeting. But we wanted to see what the Infercity League decided before we acted."

The annual meeting will be held at New Westminster Sunday.

Richmond, Vancouver Indians, New Westminster and Nanaimo played in the league last year with Nanaimo winning the provincial title. The same teams will likely enter again this season.

Nanaimo has produced two B.C. senior B finalists, also have won two Vancouver Island 16-year-olds titles but lost out in the finals to Vancouver.

City Softball Umpires Asked To Register

In accordance with a plan approved at the last meeting of the British Columbia Amateur Softball Association, a provincial softball umpires' association will be formed this year.

All affiliated members of districts within the jurisdiction of the B.C.A.S.A. have been notified and requested to secure the names and addresses of all recognized umpires in the respective districts and also the names and addresses of those intending to umpire this coming season.

It is the intention of the B.C.A.S.A. to charge a slight affiliation fee for each umpire. The money will be used for written examinations for all umpires to be written in the presence of the council member in the district in which they intend umpiring.

Fees will also be used to send the B.C. umpire-in-chief to field test umpires in districts from which adverse reports on an umpire's ability have been received.

All umpires and prospective umpires are asked to send their names and addresses to President Wally Yeamans of the Greater Victoria Amateur Softball Association, 1612 Quadra Street, as soon as possible.

Don Loney To Remain With Ottawa Squad

OTTAWA (CP)—Don Loney, veteran snap with Ottawa's football Roughriders will line up with Ottawa again this year after all.

The perennial all-eastern lineman made it official today by signing a 1950 Canadian Rugby Union form less than a week after announcing he planned to play with the Edmonton Eskimos in the western conference this fall.

Returning from a business trip in the west, Loney said Sunday that he had "just about signed" an Edmonton contract. He said that Edmonton had offered him a proposition he couldn't "very well turn down." He was offered the post of assistant line coach to Annis Stukus.

Terms of his contract with Roughriders are not known.

Consideration Promised Fish, Game Conservation

Premier Johnson Gives Assurance More Will Be Spent For Propagation

Premier Byron Johnson gave assurance in the Legislature Tuesday serious consideration will be given to the spending of more money on fish and game protection and propogation.

Complaints had come from all corners of the House that the appropriation for the game branch of the Attorney-General's Department had been reduced by $14,000.

The Attorney-General, Hon. Gordon Wismer, said expenses had to be reduced this year and the game branch estimates were cut along with proposed expenditures of many branches of the government service.

"But we'll have a pretty fair program in the game branch despite the reduction," he said.

AS SAFEGUARD

Mr. Wismer said he would like to see all license fees and taxes paid by fishermen and hunters turned back to the game branch. The money should be used to safeguard fish and game from depletion.

The Attorney-General said also that fish and game associations in all parts of the province were willing to pay higher licenses if all of the money was spent on propogation and protection, and not channelled in to general revenue.

"I think all of the money should go back to the branch, but up to this time we have been unable to meet the situation," Mr. Wismer said.

The people of the province were entitled to have this resource reserved for future generations, he added.

Premier Johnson explained that it was the game branch, not the finance department, which reduced its estimates after the cabinet had called for a cut.

He said the government had set up a $200,000 fund to meet extraordinary expenses of departments, because of the reductions ordered, and he indicated assistance might be given the game branch from this source.

Library Box, Statue Photo Among Council Discussions

Contents for the library cornerstone box, repairs to an elevator in the grain elevator and a picture of the statue Victoria is to be donated were among matters discussed at Tuesday's City Council meeting.

Ald. Dr. J. D. Hunter urged his colleagues to bring forth any suggestions of what should be put in the library box before it is to be replaced in the cornerstone of the building, now undergoing modernization.

Ald. Duncan D. McTavish thought the city was getting a very good deal when Kerr Gifford and Co., occupants of the city-owned grain elevator, offered to pay half the $567 total for repairing an elevator in the building.

Ald. Harold M. Diggon was apparently worried about the appearance of the statue of Queen Victoria, which will shortly be enroute to the city. He asked Council to request a photograph of same, and urged constructive thinking on the matter before the statue arrived.

City Solicitor A. J. Patton was empowered to draw up a by-law providing extension of the fire limits.

Council approved the nomination of L. G. Scott to building appeal board, by Victoria Building Industries Exchange.

Question of providing hanging baskets and flower boxes for downtown merchants for a fee was referred back to the parks committee for consideration.

School Board estimates of ordinary and extraordinary expenditure for 1950 were accepted.

Council ruled that a $75 allowance would be made for indigent burials effective immediately in view of increased costs.

Council approved the social welfare committee report which said premises at 338 Foul Bay Road could be recommended for 12 ambulatory cases or six bed patients. George Taylor of Vancouver had applied for a provincial license to operate a private hospital for 30 bed patients at the premises.

Aged Men's Home committee was given the green light to have plans and specifications drawn up for a house for the superintendent of the Aged Men's Home.

Inter-Office Calls Planned

First step toward installation of an inter-office communication system at a cost not to exceed $1,000, was taken by City Council at its meeting Tuesday.

Ald. Percy B. Scurrah expressed fear that with plans for alterations to City Hall nearing completion, a communications system might be installed only to be re-vamped or torn out, owing to alteration changes.

"Our plans are to fit in with the alterations," Ald. William Pinfold, a member of the civic service committee which moved the recommendation, assured him.

Mayor Percy George urged council to endorse the matter in principal and order the electrical department to build the equipment . . . "it doesn't matter where it is to be put."

"The sum of $850 (estimate) is only a fraction of what is would cost us to have an outside firm do it," Ald. Pinfold said.

Mayor George said he had to wait 10 minutes sometimes to get a department head by phone and many business people trying to contact City Hall were up against the same thing.

"Sixty percent of the switchboard is taken up with inter-office calls," he told the meeting.

Staff Changes Held Till City Names Manager

Civic Service Committee's plans for a re-organized personnel department got a rough ride in City Council meeting Tuesday at the hands of Ald. Harold M. Diggon, and ended up laid on the table until the municipal manager is appointed.

Ald. Mrs. Hilda Baxter, chairman, moved the recommendation in the report which would add a personnel technician to the department.

She said the recommendations were made following negotiations with various groups of civic employees and after a study of proposals contained in the Stevenson and Kellogg report. The company made a survey of city hall employees some time ago.

"We are stepping too far when we are now screening for an expensive administrator," Ald. Diggon said. "I am not opposing the move."

Ald. Waldo Skillings concurred with his colleague, feeling a "major departmental change at this time" was ill-advised.

SUPPORTS CHAIRMAN

Ald. William Pinfold, a member of the civic service committee, gave his chairman moral support but to no avail. He contended it would be months before a city manager would get "around to things like this." Newton D. Smith, executive officer to the civic service committee was overloaded with work, he added.

"We have no desire to make a big change," he said.

Ald. Baxter asked if Mr. Smith would like to speak on the matter but the aldermen, although they agreed he was overworked did not want to hear from Mr. Smith.

Hard-Of-Hearing Club

Mrs. E. LeBus was re-elected president at the annual meeting of the Victoria Hard-of-Hearing Club.

In her annual report, Mrs. LeBus said the past year had been highly successful. One of the highlights was the establishment of a bursary for hard-of-hearing children in local schools.

Other officers elected were: H. R. Brown, first vice-president; Miss O. M. Treilhard, second vice-president; Mrs. F. E. Beaven, treasurer; Capt. G. A. Laird, secretary, and Mrs. F. G. Purser, Mrs. H. Murray, C. T. Jones, H. Burrows, and K. T. Hughes, executive committee.

Council Repudiates Award By Board Of Arbitration

Move Follows City Representative's Charge Of Interference On Labor Relations Board

City Council repudiated the majority report of a board of arbitration which awarded some 250 employees of the city's outside staff a 7½ cent an hour increase in wages.

Action was taken at council meeting Tuesday and City Solicitor A. J. Patton was authorized to take necessary action to have the award set aside.

At the same time the civic service committee was authorized to re-open negotiations with the union after the award is set aside.

The record-breaking moves on the part of the city were a quick follow-up to receipt of a minority award of Herbert W. Davey, K.C., city's nominee on the arbitration board who charged interference and irregularities on the part of the Labor Relations Board.

He charged that Macgregor Macintosh, a member of the Labor Relations Board:

"Illegally and improperly interfered with the deliberation of an independent board and attempted to influence its judgement."

'VIOLATION OF OATH'

He charged further: "Mr. Bjarnson (Emil, employees' representative) communicated the decision of the majority of the board to representatives of the employees before it had been rendered as required by law. This was a violation of his oath of office."

In a deposition, members of the civic service committee outlined the history of the wage dispute between the city and the Civic Employees' Protective Association, Local, No. 50, which comprises the city's outside staff.

They stated the chairman of the arbitration and Mr. Davey agreed on a three-cent an hour increase on a Friday but did not sign the award.

"Mr. Wilkinson (George, member of the Labor Relations Board) stated that later the same evening he received a telephone call from the Employees' Advocate, Mr. Bird, to the effect that the executive of the C.E.P.A. had been apprised of the Board's majority decision, and, in view of the fact that the award was less than the previous offer of the Civic Service Committee (six cents per hour) it cas the intention of the union executive to stage a strike on the following Monday, regardless of the fact that such a strike was illegal being specifically forbidden by the provisions of the I.C. & A. Act."

CITY NOT ASKED

Ald. William Pinfold claimed at the council meeting that the Labor Relations Board, then took it upon themselves to help the city avoid a strike. The city, he said, was not asked to consider whether it wanted a strike.

"The three members took an oath and were sworn to secrecy but 15 minutes after the decision the union was notified," Ald. Pinfold said. "The union immediately threatened to strike."

The union had asked for 25 cents an hour increase. In original negotiations the civic service committee offered six, but that offer was withdrawn when the dispute went to arbitration.

Col. Macgregor Macintosh, according to the civic service committee deposition, telephoned Col. E. R. Longridge, chairman of the arbitration board, informing him of the impending illegal strike and requesting to have the board reconsider the majority award, in the light of the fact that the employees had previously been offered an increase of six cents.

CORROBORATED STATEMENT

Col. Macgregor Macintosh corroborated this statement, adding that Col. Longridge had professed ignorance of an offer of six cents per hour having been made, but following inspection of his files had admitted that the information to this effect was in fact on file, but had been overlooked at the moment, the deposition continued.

The arbitration board reconvened on the Monday and reconsidered its findings despite the protests of Mr. Davey, the city's nominee. The 7½ cent award was the result.

Mr. Davey discussed at length the difference between conciliation and arbitration stating that municipalities had to accept conciliation board awards under the I.C.A. Act.

"If the wages being paid appear to be fair, the board should award no more, in spite of the employees' demands, even though the municipality had offered to increase the wage in an effort to effect a settlement without recourse to arbitration," Mr. Davey wrote in his award.

'IF CITY HAD KNOWN'

"If the city had known the arbitrators intended to consider its offer of six cents an hour, it may have desired to give evidence to show that it considered such offer too high, but made it to avoid uncertainty and expense of arbitration.

"Failure to observe this cardinal principle will result in gross injustice and soon bring conciliation and arbitration proceedings into contempt and disrepute.

"I am firmly of the opinion that the city's offer of six cents an hour in order to obtain a settlement without recourse to arbitration, is both inadmissable as evidence and irrelevent to our decision.

"In my respectful opinion, the majority of the board were wrong in yielding to Mr. Macintosh's wrongful and highly improper interference with our deliberations and conclusions."

Report Assured Of Acceptance

Acceptance by the School Board and the School Board Employees' Association of a conciliation board report was almost assured after a meeting Tuesday between W. R. Mail, association executive, and W. H. M. Haldane, School Board counsel.

Following the meeting, Mr. Mail said minor details had been ironed out and that both parties would now be asked to accept the board report.

The report provides wage increases ranging between $10 and $17.50 for school janitors and maintenance men.

Victoria Daily Times

VICTORIA, B.C., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 15, 1950

on the TIMES

By ART STOTT

Ernie Harrison is a tall old man passing his 83rd birthday quietly in the Caledonia Avenue home of a relative today. His long legs stretch comfortably toward a heater. They have lost the speed that made him a track and field star 60 years ago and carried him to triumph in the boxing ring. But his mind turns brightly to scenes before 1900.

Ernie was born on a Salt Spring Island farm where he still lives in the summer. As a boy he was taken east by his mother to Oberlin College in Ohio. He came back as a youth and by 1890 took on the best track men on the Pacific Coast.

"In those days I was running with Tom Watson, the fire chief," he reminisces. "He won the 10-mile coast championship at San Francisco. He was too good for me at the distances, but I could beat him at the 100, the hurdles and the jumps."

THE SEASON OPENED on May 24 with sports at the old Caledonia grounds, east of Government Street, between Niagara and Simcoe and running up to what is now St. Andrews Street. All Victoria's outdoor sports were staged there.

"There were no amateurs then," Ernie explains. "You were paid $10 for first place in a race, and $5 for second. The prizes for the jumps were a little less.

"Harry McDowell was running about the same time. Harry was in the old fire department. They had the three companies then, the Tiger, the Deluge and the Hook and Ladder. I wasn't on the fire department, but I ran on the hose team."

THAT WAS THE big event in the late '90's. A team of six runners pulled a reel of hose mounted between two big wheels. They dashed from the starting point to a hydrant. Two other men on the team took the hose from the reel, coupled it, and screwed on the nozzle. The first team to throw a stream of water won.

"After the Twenty-fourth," Ernie recalls, "Watson and I used to go up to Wellington on July 1. They held sports there and at Nanaimo on the same day. We'd compete under terrific handicaps, sometimes 10 per cent.

"When the long races were over Watson would walk down to Nanaimo to run there. I'd stay and finish the jumps. Then I'd take a train to Nanaimo and they'd be holding the jumps for me.

"We'd go to Vancouver on July 2 and compete there and then head to Port Angeles on July 4 for their sports."

The BIGGEST hose team race Ernie ever saw was on Yates Street, Portland, Cedro Woolley, Nanaimo and a lot of other teams came. Victoria, as host, didn't compete.

"The Petticrew boys, Hugh and Bob, helped the Nanaimo team that day, and they won."

Ten seconds was good time for a sprinter in those days.

"I never broke 10" Ernie says. "Hal Beasley was the only man I ever saw get under 10 seconds here.

"I was champion hurdler of the Pacific Northwest, but hurdling wasn't what it is now."

ERNIE TOUGHENED himself up for boxing when he was a boy at Oberlin. Britishers and Americans weren't as friendly then. When the Oberlin boys piled on the Salt Spring lad, he learned to fight.

He turned to the ring when he was close to 30. His brother was taking lessons from George Reid, "the finest boxer I ever saw here." Ernie tried the gloves on with his brother and soon was the star pupil.

"George Shade gave me some good advice," Harrison says. "I've got girl's hands and I kept hurting them. 'Stop hitting them in the head and hit 'em in the belly,' George said. I did. That saved my hands."

SIX-FOOT-TWO, 142-pound Harrison fought and beat Jerry Stamp, champion of the British naval squadron at Esquimalt on the night of Queen Victoria's Jubilee. The bout ended in one and one-half minutes.

"I went down to the firehall after," he recalls. "There was only the engineer there. It was a great night for celebrating, the Jubilee. The engineer said to me, 'Guess you'll be getting a lady and bulldog now, like the other fighters.' I figured if that was what I was heading for I'd quit. I did."

ERNIE WENT into church work and debating.

"I didn't like fighting. I liked boxing. Next to being a Christian, I think one of the best things a boy can do is learn how to control himself. Boxing teaches that. It helps to make people respect you, too,' he adds.

U.S. College Dancers Coming

Modernistic dancing like this will be theme of dance recital to be presented March 21 in Victoria High School auditorium by Betty Lynd Thompson and 14 dancers from Oregon State College. ALL-GIRL CASTS FEATURED

Drama Festival Adjudicator Finds 'Veritable Billy Burke'

First of the afternoon sessions in the 10th Greater Victoria Schools Drama Festival took place Tuesday in the gymnasium of St. Margaret's School. All-girl casts were featured.

Adjudicator Ross Lort said the tone of the afternoon had been somewhat serious with no comedy to lighten it but the plays were good. It is not easy to find for feminine casts, Mr. Lort was introduced by Miss H. M. Pearce, principal of St. Margaret's School.

"THE CASE OF THE WEIRD SISTERS"
By Wall Spence
Presented by St. Margaret's School
Cast:
Bessie ..... Carol Wootton
Mattie ..... Mary Ellen McNaught
Charlotte ..... Alison Snape
Marion Curtis ..... Jan Bartholomew
Enid ..... Judith Wilson
Director, Mrs. Eleanor Hewitt

This was an unusual and interesting play, Mr. Lort considered. He felt that it played much better than it read, having appealed to him as rather a "grim affair." He liked the way the girls had waited for the audience to quieten down before delivering their first lines.

Mr. Lort paid a tribute to the director for her handling of "the niceties" and for the excellent timing. He had great praise for "Bessie," who he described as a "veritable Billie Burke," especially regarding character touches and tricks of gesture. "Bessie" and "Mattie" had conveyed a fine sense of sisterhood.

"DARK BETROTHAL"
By T. B. Morris
Presented by Queen Margaret's School, Duncan
Cast:
Margery (serving woman) ..... Susan Griffin
Joan (serving woman) ..... Catherine Windeyer
Ursula (an old nurse) ..... Ann Perry
Edward Plantagenet ..... Gillian Bridgman
Catherine ..... Patsy Ferraro
Cecilia ..... Maureen Leggatt
Elizabeth ..... Sheaila Madden
Daughters of King Edward IV
Elisabeth Woodville, Queen Dowager ..... Beverly Harrison
Director, Miss Yvonne Scott

This was an historical play, requiring a high degree of polish both in direction and acting, said Mr. Lort. In this respect, he felt the Duncan school's production had been successful.

He commented on the admirable restraint shown in the work, the sincerity and grouping which, he pointed out, was interesting at all times. The set was satisfactory and a lot of work and thought had gone into the costumes.

There had not been one weak performance, the adjudicator declared.

"STRANGE ROAD"
By John M. Houston
Presented by St. Margaret's School
Cast:
Mrs. Talbot, Alan's Mother ..... Diana Elkington
Mrs. Kadan, Annie's Mother ..... Elaine Capel
Annie ..... Margaret Allen
Alan ..... D. Legge-Willis
Director, Mrs. Eleanor Hewitt

Mr. Lort liked the setting and the use of color and properties in this play. The work of "Mrs. Kadan" impressed him. It was clear, audible and imparted a note of excitement. He commended the whole cast.

Difficult but worthwhile plays, presented by Oak Bay schools, pleased Ross Lort, adjudicating the second evening session in Oak Bay High School auditorium Tuesday night. Five hundred attended and R. H. Green, chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board, presided.

"MY LATE ESPOUSED SAINT"
By Frank Durham
Presented by Oak Bay High School
Cast:
Essie Carraway ..... Ruth Miller
Phelie Dargan ..... Tannis Carlson
Ambrose Dargan ..... Bruce Somers
Ebie ..... Kenneth Pryke
Director, Miss Katharine Youdall

Mr. Lort said audibility of the play had suffered through the noise of creaking chairs after the opening. Difficulties of the play had been overcome by excellent direction. Mr. Lort said that while "Ambrose" could have been played with less sustained and positive anger, the parts of "Essie" and "Phelie" were maintained with vigor and conviction.

"THE DYSPEPTIC OGRE"
By Percival Wilde
Presented by Willows School
The Jester ..... Marjorie Gilbart
The Ogre's Cook ..... Sue Mitchell
The Ogre ..... Larry Johns
Frances ..... Ann Robertson
The Dinners: Ieoline Clements, Marjorie Ellis, Marilyn Wells, Hilary Wells, Winifred Lochead, Denise Cave, Gay Thompson.
The Principal Boy Scout ..... David Edgar
Other Boys Scouts: Norman Jones, John Gailliford, Russell Shipley, Kenenth Moffatt, Alan Cockell, Bobby Hughes, Mark Fairley.
Trumpeter (offstage) ..... Gordon Leaver
Director, Irvine Dawson

This was an excellent example of team work, Mr. Lort said. He paid tribute to the jester, who sustained the roll of liaison between the actors and audience. The "Ogre" was convincing and there was little one could criticize in the whole production.

"PRISONER'S BASE"
By Marion Watson
Presented by Oak Bay High School
Cast:
Carelaker ..... Tannis Monteith
Millie ..... Kerstie MacLean
Mrs. Fortescue ..... Angela Dick
Angela ..... Sheiagh Clarke
Carrie ..... Sally Laundy
Patsy ..... Joan Pigeon
Julie ..... Joyce Menzies
Sarah ..... Frances Appleton
Nannie ..... Ruth Miller
Cook ..... Ann Norman
Director, Miss Katharine Youdall

The danger of a one-act play with several scenes was the loss of continuity through too long waits, Mr. Lort explained. He felt this danger had been avoided by good directing and production.

The characters in the subsequent back flashes were strongly contrasted. He made special mention of "Angela's" statuesque immobility in this respect.

City Needs 100 To Lead Scouts

Victoria's growing youthful population needs more scout leaders. Scout commissioner Freeman King says the district can absorb 100 new scoutmasters, assistant scoutmasters and leaders "without causing a ripple."

The commissioner is holding a training class in April for all those interested in taking up the work.

"Previous experience is not necessary. All that is required is enthusiasm," says Mr. King.

Suggests Return To Blue Cross

Workmen's compensation, hospital insurance and automobile insurance, under their present set-ups, were criticized by Justin V. Harbord, a local insurance businessman, who addressed members of the Credit Granters' Association Tuesday.

All insurance schemes should be handled by private firms for as such could be operated at greatly reduced costs, Mr. Harbord said.

A suggestion was put forward that the government return its hospital insurance scheme to the Blue Cross organization. It was also recommended by Mr. Harbord that the hospitals be subsidized by the government.

DOUBTS TERM 'SPORTSMEN'

The term "sportsman" as it is used in many cases today is entirely inappropriate, E. E. Winch, C.C.F., Burnaby, told the Legislature today.

"I have never been able to understand why a man who goes out with all modern appliances to slaughter another form of life is called a sportsman," the elder member of the Opposition said.

$11,000 A YEAR

Manager Named For Hospital

George E. Masters, assistant director of Vancouver General Hospital, has been appointed to an $11,000-a-year job as administrator of Royal Jubilee Hospital, beginning June 1.

Dr. J. L. Murray Anderson, medical superintendent of the hospital, will remain in his present $10,000-a-year position.

The announcement was made today by Percy A. Moir, chairman of the hospital's board of directors.

The board took the action in order to bring the institution into line with findings of a survey by a government-hired firm of hospital experts.

Mr. Masters' contract calls for annual increases of $1,000 a year for three years, Mr. Moir said.

Health and Welfare Minister George Pearson and the board of directors received the Hamilton report on the hospital late last summer, but have never made it public.

Dr. Murray Anderson succeeded Dr. Morley Beckett as medical superintendent and Dr. Beckett's predecessor was Dr. T. W. Walker.

Death Toll Up In Bombay Riot

BOMBAY (AP)—New violence Tuesday night raised the death toll from Moslem-Hindu clashes since Sunday to 10 killed and 21 wounded, an official communique said today. Police have arrested more than 250 persons.

Despite a dusk-to-dawn curfew in the trouble spots of the tense city there were three stabbings and scattered fighting that called out truckloads of police and home guards.

Thief Returns $33,000 Ticket

BLACKPOOL, Eng. Reuter)—Absent-minded Martin Grewer feels no animosity at all towards the man who stole his coat from a hotel last week.

Richer by £10,000 ($33,000) from a football pool, he explained that the winning entry coupon was in a pocket of the coat. He forgot to mail it before going to his hotel. Then he found the coat gone.

The thoughtful thief posted it. "He's not such a bad fellow," Grewer remarked forgivingly last night.

Game Branch Planes Check Flying Tourists

Plan Strong Move To End Air Poaching

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer said at the first morning sitting in the current session of the Legislature today the provincial game branch may use aircraft to check U.S. tourists flying to isolated inland lakes to hunt and fish.

Randolph Harding, C.C.F.-Kaslo, Slocan, asked if any check was made of the catches and bags of fishermen and hunters visiting the province by air.

He feared the outsiders were taking more than they should of the wildlife and he thought they should be dealt with "strictly."

Mr. Wismer said it might be necessary to use aircraft to check the hunters and fishermen flying to inland lakes. In fact it was proposed to do so.

WOULD CONFISCATE PLANES

Meanwhile the government was negotiating with Ottawa for the use of the customs service to watch flying fishermen and hunters from below the line.

As far as dealing strictly with the offenders, the attorney-general stated: "I'd be in favor of confiscating their aircraft."

E. E. Winch, C.C.F.-Burnaby, suggested the flying hunters might be "a medium for the drug traffic," but Mr. Wismer said there was little likelihood of this.

"We have other means of checking narcotic traffic," he said.

Gives Picture Of Postwar Germany

A picture of postwar Germany with sufficient food, revived industries, improving transportation and what he termed a rejection of Communism, was described here Tuesday by Lt.-Col. Cyril W. Barker, member of the staff of the Control Commission for Germany.

Though reluctant to go into details of Russian and western powers relations in Germany he noted Communist candidates were often defeated in direct polling.

Formerly with the 5th Regt., R.C.A., Col. Barker was with the Allied Military Government before going to the control commission. He is spending part of a month's leave here.

He said he thought a revival of Naziism unlikely but added nationalism was always strong in Germany.

LOWEST PENSIONS IN CANADA SAY B.C. TEACHERS SEEKING INCREASE

Pensions of B.C. teachers are lower than anywhere else in Canada, the provincial cabinet was told by a delegation from the B.C. Teachers' Federation which asked increases to $50 a month for single persons and $100 for married couples with 20 years' service.

Most pensioned teachers received about $40 a month, although some, including retired married teachers, received less.

It was claimed that teachers have been legislated out of employment on inadequate pensions at ages of 60 for women and 65 for men by the terms of the Teachers' Pensions Act.

Active teachers who set up a fund voluntarily to help pensioned teachers now feit the government should accept the responsibility of increasir r pensions.

Costs $2,000 A Year For Each Boy At New Haven

The eyes of the world are focused on B.C.'s Borstal-type school at New Haven, Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer said in the Legislature this morning.

Answering questions with regard to the cost of operating New Haven, Mr. Wismer described the recently-established school for youthful first offenders as a great experiment.

"All young boys should be treated in this way," the attorney-general said.

He hoped that in the near future the federal government would realize the value of the Borstal-type school and take some action on a national level, and also help share in the cost of maintaining such institutions.

Mr. Wismer's statements came in reply to a question of Mrs. Tilly Rolston, M.L.A. for Vancouver-Point Grey.

$2,000 A BOY

Mrs. Rolston, noting the government expected to spend $75,425 to maintain the school this year, wondered how many boys were at the school. The attorney-general said 34.

"That's $2,000 a boy," Mrs. Rolston said "and there's lots of cheaper ways we could probably prevent them from being there."

She suggested there were a great many agencies which if properly organized and financed could have influenced the boys from doing the things which put them in custody.

E. E. Winch, Burnaby member, agreed with Mrs. Rolston that prevention would probably be a lot cheaper, but thought that penal institutions were necessary and that New Haven was doing a good and worthwhile job.

"There should be more than one New Haven," he said.

Okanagan Asks Financial Aid For Education

The Okanagan Municipal Association today asked the provincial cabinet for education cost assistance.

A resolution receiving the unanimous assent of 14 municipalities from Kamloops to Revelstoke and south to the international border, requested:

1. Immediate review of education financing to remove the taxation burden from landowners; and

2. A government guarantee on proportion of schoolcosts paid by organized municipalities in order to keep the mill rate in each municipal school budget down to a certain maximum figure on the same basis as in unorganized territory.

Spencer Foundation To Get Property

Lands and Zoning Committee was instructed by City Council Tuesday to make tentative arrangements with the Spencer Foundation Committee for transfer of property at Cook and Pembroke Streets, the Savory Estate, to enable the foundation to erect a $100,000 welfare centre.

This Is Marmalade Season Try Making Up A Tasty Batch

By PENNY SAVER

"Pass the marmalade, mom," says Junior, wiping his sticky fingers on his corner of the tablecloth. "Boy, is this good!" You pass Junior the marmalade, whack him on the knuckles with the nearest spoon and give him the two-bit lecture on hygiene, then sit back and watch your offspring enjoy your new batch of marmalade.

This is the season for the delicious combination of oranges, lemons and grapefruit alright, so thought I'd check the prices of same for you.

White grapefruit tips the scales at three pounds for 29 cents and the Florida variety—it has a darker skin—weighs in at two pounds for 23 cents. Oranges, according to size, start in price at about 27 cents for two pounds and lemons at 19 cents a pound and up.

Now we've got the prices let's get down to making the breakfast-time favorite.

This recipe gives you six combinations, take your choice! (1) Use all oranges; (2) use two oranges and one lemon; (3) use all grapefruit; (4) use four grapefruit, one lemon, one orange; (5) use four oranges, eight sweet, and two lemons; (6) use one grapefruit, one orange and one lemon.

Now for the method for making marmalade: Wash the fruit thoroughly and remove any dark spots on the skin. Slice the whole fruit very thinly, core, put it through the meat chopper for quick results, remove the seeds (cover the seeds with water). To each measure of fruit add 1¼ measures of water and set aside over night.

Next day boil for one hour and again set over night. Add the water from the seeds; measure and heat three-quarters as much sugar as fruit. Cook the fruit covered for 20 minutes, add sugar and cook until it jellies.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

There are bound to be differences of opinion on every subject and a good arguer can make out a case for or against anyone with equal ease.

Mrs. R. H. asks a controversial question. "Shall I deny my child the right to read comic magazines?" she writes. "There are so many things said against them that I feel anxious. Please tell me your opinion."

Instead, let us line up the common arguments for and against the reading of this particular type of literature and see what comes out of it.

Against it parents claim, with truth, (1) That some comics are often both sexy and in execrable taste. (2) They feel that they are so easy to read that a child accustomed to them will spurn more difficult reading or one that has more words and fewer pictures. (3) Children become so immersed in reading that they cannot be pried loose to go out and engage in more active play. (4) That children spend too much of their allowances on comics. (5) That the type of cruel, even criminal, behaviour in some comics, will influence a child to try to imitate it.

These are all valid criticisms. Now on the plus side let us line up what can be said for reading comics:

(1) That any kind of reading promotes a love for reading and because comics are read avidly and with interest, children are certain to learn a lot of words which will help them in other reading.

(2) That reading comics promotes a kind of comradeship with other children, in discussing what they have read and in enjoying the same interests.

(3) Children do need the thrills which come from adventures and must enjoy them vicariously because they are unable to personally. (4) A recognition that children suffer guilt because of their occasional emotions of hate or dislike toward relatives and friends. By identifying themselves with the villain in the comics they resolve their own guilt when he is punished. (5) Children can swap comics and thus read more without extravagant expenditure of their own money.

You see, there is as much to be said pro as con! Now what can parents do?

Our leaflet No. 79 "Books for Children," suggests some which have withstood the test of time. It may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix: Do philandering men ever get over it, or do they keep right on until one foot is in the grave? I dearly love a man who is unusually attractive, but his only bad habit is that he must date up every new woman who crosses his path. He begs me to marry him and is devotion itself, but every once in a while he has one of these affairs with other women. Do you think he will ever give up his wild parties with wild women? UNDECIDED.

Answer: Any woman who marries a philanderer lays up trouble for herself. For the man who is born with a wandering foot is just bound to roam away from home. He can't help it. Every new face enchants him. Every strange woman is a lure to adventure. It isn't in that kind of man to have any deep feeling for any woman and no woman can hold him long, no matter how beautiful or charming or attractive she is.

Young Principal In Noon Christening Service

The 13-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Arsens, pictured with her mother, received the names Eldean Gay, in a christening service held recently in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, with Rev. J. L. W. McLean officiating. Godparents are Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Brayshaw of this city, and Mrs. R. H. Laidlaw, Merritt, B.C. Following the noon rites, a family buffet luncheon was held at the Arsens home, 2515 Beach Drive. Among guests were maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Murdoch, Sinclair Road; the baby's great aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. G. Goodis of Vancouver, and Mr. Laidlaw of Merritt.

B.C. GIRL SEES DREAM COME TRUE

DOG CREEK, B.C. (CP) Barbara Spencer, daughter of a pioneering British Columbia family, today took over operation of the 300,000-acre Dog Creek Ranch in this central Cariboo district 200 miles north of Vancouver.

Miss Spencer, a newspaper reporter for three years after being graduated from college, thus becomes one of the top cattle ranch operators in western Canada.

Daughter of Victor Spencer, one-time department store owner, she will ride herd on some 3,000 head of Hereford cattle on the ranch fronting the Fraser River.

Dog Creek will be operated by the newly-formed Circle S Cattle Company Ltd., of which Miss Spencer is president and managing director.

Attractive miscellaneous gifts were concealed behind a decorated umbrella at a prenuptial shower at the home of Mrs. R. Ward, 1642 Davie Street, to compliment Miss Doreen Hardy, who will be married on April 1. Yellow rosebuds en corsage were given to the bride-to-be and her mother, Mrs. E. ## Lace, Satin Bridal Dress, Worn By Barbara J. Fletcher

A honeymoon trip to the mainland followed the marriage of Barbara Jeane, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Todd, 1047 Joan Crescent, and Joseph H. Fletcher, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fletcher, 552 Snelling Street, Saturday evening in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

For the nuptials conducted by Rev. J. L. W. McLean, the bride was gowned in traditional satin. The slim skirt, slightly en train, was fashioned with lace-edged bustle, and the slender bodice finished with sweetheart neck and sleeves in lily point mode.

A lace, heart-shaped headdress capped her full-length veil, and the bride wore as her only jewelry a cameo pendant. Red roses and white carnations composed her bouquet.

Pale green nylon taffeta fashioned the attractive, square-necked gown, worn by Mrs. Robert Todd, who attended her sister-in-law as matron of honor.

Miss Marie Cummins, bridesmaid, was gowned in palest yellow taffeta, the gown featuring bustle-back. Both carried spring flowers, and wore headdresses en tone.

Douglas Campbell was best men for the groom and ushers were Robert Todd, brother of the bride, and James Smith.

C. C. Warren presided at the organ and Miss Kathleen Paulin was soloist.

A reception followed at Lougheed's Banquet Club where toast to the bride was proposed by A. H. Jones.

A three-tier, crown-shaped wedding cake centred the table.

For the wedding trip, the bride selected a wine gabardine three-piece suit, smart with fur choker, grey accessories and corsage bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher will return to Victoria to make their home.

Miss Araby Lockhart, a member of the cast of the touring musical revue "There Goes Yesterday," to be presented in Victoria next week, will be guest of her aunt, Mrs. J. Sutherland-Brown, Bowker Place, during her stay in the city.

Tourists In Rome For Holy Year Discover Prices Being Pushed Up

ROME (AP) — Pity the poor tourist in a year like this.

For Rome has settled down to taking the Holy Year visitor for all the traffic will bear.

It's by no means the official policy. The government has done everything possible to peg prices, at least on the essentials of hotel rooms and restaurant meals.

But individual enterprise and Latin imagination have managed to surmount most of these restrictions.

Fortunately, it isn't the actual religious pilgrim who bears the brunt of the price-jumping; he comes in only on the fringes of the increase. It's the normal tourist who gets it.

The pilgrims come to see the Vatican and visit the holy places. These—and the golden Italian sunshine—are free. But little else is. And the tourist is paying heavy bills on the rest.

Hotels have begun to turn on the pressure. Rates at a good Rome hotel—not necessarily one of the best—are pegged at 2,500 lire a day. That is $4 a day or $120 a month.

That's the official rate—but by the time the innumerable extras are added on the tourist will be paying $200 a month or more.

ROOM FOR WEEK

Some hotels are saying now that tourists can have a room only for one week. (It takes a little extra to the room clerk to stay on.)

Restaurants, too, are finding ways of hoisting prices by heavy charges on extras. That is permitted, but it can double the price of a normal meal. Other eating places, used to serving Italians heaping plates of specialty spaghetti, have found they can cut their portions now that foreigners are coming.

Newspapers have carried stories by shoppers who have gone from store to store and found a different price at each place for the same article. Prices vary by the day, as well.

DARWIN, Australia (CP) —Fifty Australian aborigines, men, women and children, walked 400 miles from central Arnhem Land to Darwin to get tobacco. Hunting for food on the way, it took them a month to make the trip. On the way they crossed 12 rivers and 100 creeks.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

YOU HAVE TO LEARN TO SLOW DOWN IN YOUR MIDDLE YEARS

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Several people have written asking for a discussion of the medical problems of middle age. This is a large order and besides most of us are unwilling to admit that youth has passed and middle age has set in. When one is 18, 25 looks middle-aged; at 35 middle age still seems comfortably far off!

The division of life into childhood, youth, middle age and old age is an arbitrary one. Actually, aging is a gradual process and the health problems connected with each period of life are only slightly different from those of the next younger group.

NOT AT 50

There are some differences: a man of 20 can usually run the mile without difficulty, but no man in his right senses would try to do this in his 50's. It is the same with most other strenuous physical activities.

More sleep is often needed by the person in the late 30's or early 40's than in the early 20's. Other things are in proportion. This should not be considered abnormal. The body merely needs more rest and time to restore its powers.

A reader recently wrote that she was 47, and although married and having children, held a responsible office position. She stated that she sometimes found it more difficult to keep up with fast dictation than it had been some years before. Now this too is probably no reflection of disease.

With two teen-age boys and the other responsibilities of a household and having presumably worked hard for many years, it is certainly not surprising that she should show some fatigue at such an exacting task as the taking of rapid dictation.

The solution—which of course may not be a practical one—would be to cease from undertaking so much, in other words to give up the heavy office work in addition to other duties.

IN GENERAL

In a brief discussion such as this, it is merely possible to scratch the surface of the many and complicated problems which may face the person in the so-called middle years of life. In general, it can only be said that even in the absence of any disease, there is a slowing down of the vital processes. This makes it more difficult to engage in all the activities which could be carried out easily in the vigorous 20's.

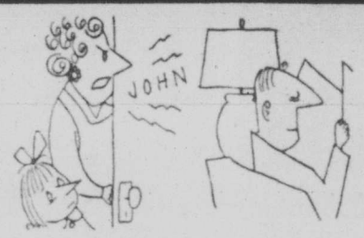

A conscious recognition of this fact and adjustment to the inability to carry so many burdens is desirable in the middle years.

Edmonton-Great Lakes Pipe Line Will Pass Through 2,000 Farms

EDMONTON—Although main construction of a crude oil pipe line between Edmonton and the Great Lakes will not start until May, more than 2,000 western Canadian farm land owners have felt a peculiarly personal interest in the project for several months.

They are the men and women who hold title to lands through which the pipe line will pass in bridging the transportation gap between Alberta crude oil producers and the refineries of eastern Canada. Since last fall they have been completing contracts, without which the pipe line would not be possible.

Interprovincial Pipe Line Company announced that the process of obtaining the necessary, legal authority for construction through those lands is now entering its final phase. Signing of final easements by individual land owners has started with completion expected in a few weeks. This will end one of the more complicated and tedious operations in the pipe line's pre-construction stage.

TO WISCONSIN

More than 2,100 tracts of land will be affected by the pipe line as it crosses Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, before continuing its southeastward direction through the United States to Superior, Wis.

With signing of the easement, the owner receives payment for the total acreage involved in the 60-foot-wide right-of-way across his field. His is calculated at the current per acre market value of his land. The market value varies considerably along the 790 miles of right-of-way within the prairie provinces.

EASEMENTS

Whatever the price received, the owner does not sell any portion of his land. If the pipe line company has an interest of two or three acres in a quarter section by virtue of the easement, the owner still may sell the full 160 acres if he wishes—always subject to the easement. The farmer on the land still may work the full 160 acres after the line is buried.

Any inconvenience to the landowner will be temporary. In most cases it will be only a week or so between the time the construction crews dig the trench, lower the welded line into place and cover it with soil. Debris and cut brush will be removed. The trench will be about 30 inches wide, so normal farm operations can proceed over the right-of-way immediately after the final clean-up.

TO CUT FENCES

Actual construction is scheduled to start in May. An advance party, which will cut fences and install gates, will be followed by truck crews stringing the pipe along the right-of-way. They will be followed by the ditching equipment and behind them will come welding and laying crews. Then will come the machine to tar and wrap the line before it is lowered into the ditch. The ditch will be backfilled and in the case of cultivated land, will be tamped and left level; on uncultivated land, a small crown will be left to take care of any subsidence.

Find Meters Save Water For U.S. Cities

CHICAGO (UP)—Many water-conscious cities in the U.S. are considering installing water meters and billing customers on a family consumption basis, according to the American Public Works Association.

The association said water waste has become a matter of increasing concern to cities which can see themselves faced with a water shortage similar to that which plagues New York.

The association cited Rahway, N.J., a city of 20,000 as an example of the saving effected through the use of water meters.

In 1941, faced with a drought which almost dried up the Rahway River, the city passed an ordinance to instal meters. Previously, the city had sold water on a flat-rate frontage basis to all but industrial users.

Immediately after meters were installed, the association said, water usage per person dropped 16 gallons per day. City officials believe the saving was effected through repairs to dripping faucets and leaky mains.

Under the old system, they said, there was no incentive for repair.

Indian Health Plan

CALCUTTA (CP)—The All-India Institute of Hygiene here may soon have a maternity and child welfare department which will "develop" into an international centre for training medical practitioners, health visitors and social workers." The plan is estimated to cost more than $1,000,000.

Stage Dresser Tells Of Kinks In His Work

LONDON (CP)—Horace Ridley has been a dresser to leading operatic stars at Covent Garden for 30 years.

No matter how temperamental or excitable some of the continental singers get or how heated the atmosphere in a dressing-room, Ridley's job is to keep things calm.

"Sometimes we have to switch a singer into a part at a few minutes' notice," he said. "It's all right when I have to get a 140-pound man into a costume made for a 200-pound singer.

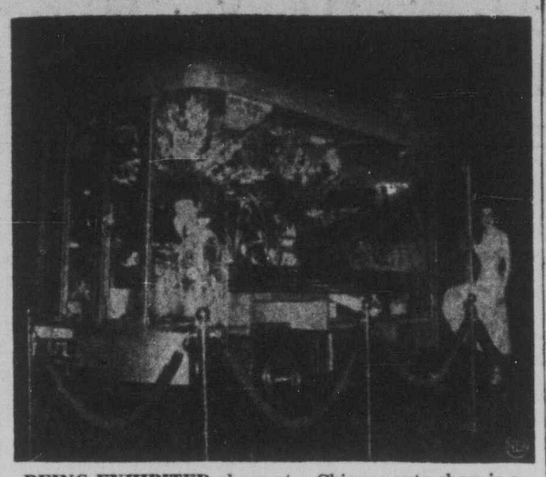

"It's the other way round that plays you up."

In such cases Horace sews and pins them, lets out seams, puts in tucks and on time to the dot has his stars in the wings perfectly dressed to make their bow.

Besides keeping an eye on the stars' clothes and keeping them calm, Horace has to remember their little whims.

"You must never offer a stage singer his right boot first. That's bad luck. It should always be the left boot."

Ridley, an elderly man with greying hair, is the third of his family to attend the great. He, his mother and his father between them have given 105 years' service.

Too Much Milk

CARLISLE, Eng. (CP)—Capt. E. R. L. Llewellyn told fellow members of the county council here that too much milk is being drunk. In his day "we were given beer for dinner at school; never milk." Llewellyn added: "I don't remember very much tuberculosis wher beer was drunk for breakfast."

Push-Button Voting Grows

CHICAGO (UP)—The Council of State Governments reports an increasing number of state legislatures are using automatic roll-call machines to record their votes.

Eighteen states now have push-button voting in one or both houses of their legislatures, the council said. Mississippi was the latest state to instal electric roll-call machines when it provided for them for its House of Representatives in time for a special session.

The council said the machines are accurate and save much time in determining quorum calls as well as results on contested issues.

Paid With Its Life

OSLO (CP)—An elk which entered Norway's capital city created quite a commotion. Well-meaning crowds chased it up and down streets trying to guide it back to the woods. Finally the elk broke its leg hurdling a high wall and police had to shoot it.

Norway Hydro Underground

OSLO (CP)—Norwegian engineers are blasting beneath mountains to instal underground hydro-electric power plants which would be proof against aerial attack. Fourteen such plants are now under construction and five have been completed. The 19 plants will generate 1,500,000 kilowatts—half of Norway's present generating capacity.

Record Year For Publishers

LONDON (CP)—More books were published in Britain in 1949 than in any previous year, the trade journal, The Bookseller, reports.

The year's output of new titles was 11,924, 600 more than in the previous record year of 1937.

Books on hobbies, sports, art, architecture and music showed the largest increases. Biographies slumped in number and novels were sharply down—3,500 against 5,100 in 1937.

Theft Repays Kindly Act

HALIFAX (CP)—Arthur Colwell, who was given a place to sleep when he was without money, admitted in court to stealing a watch and penknife from his benefactor, Claude Manuge. "It was kind of a mean theft," said crown prosecutor P. T. Hickey. Colwell, who had a police record, was sentenced to two years in prison.

Well-Known Speaker Tells How Prayer, Sincerity Made His Career

Can you imagine a stuttering boy developing into one of the most sought-after speakers? Dr. Alfred P. Haake, mayor of the city of Park Ridge, Ill., tells his own personal experience in overcoming a serious personal handicap.

By ALFRED P. HAAKE

ONE IS NATURALLY reticent about relating his personal experience to demonstrate a truth, and I have always felt a little uneasy about folks who recited so easily and glibly about the power of "grace" in their lives.

But I do know something of the power which can flow through even the poorest vehicle to bless those who invoke it humbly and prayerfully. God cannot be commanded. But He can be asked.

When, somehow, we adapt ourselves properly to the laws by which He rules the universe, we can bring about within ourselves changes that seem miraculous.

Alfred P. Haake

As a boy I could scarcely talk. I stuttered so badly that I did not recite in school. I wrote my lessons on paper or on the blackboard. When I played ball with the other boys they sometimes called me out when I was actually safe, just to hear me sputter.

One Sunday afternoon I went to a meeting in the Central Y.M.C.A. on LaSalle Street in Chicago, to hear Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana. He talked to the boys about the power of God and the help He gives to those who have faith in Him.

I can still close my eyes and see the senator standing there, with his finger pointing straight at me, as he said to us, "Young man, there isn't a thing in the world you can't do, if you believe you can."

Somehow it seemed he meant that especially for me. For the first time I believed I might get rid of the handicap that made life so miserable for me. I told my mother about the meeting.

She patted my head gently as she said to me, "Be patient, my son. All in good time! We do not always understand the ways of God, but if we have faith and just never stop trying, some of our dreams are just bound to come true."

I prayed that night when I went to bed.

NO QUICK MIRACLE

The next day did not see the kind of miracle that I might have welcomed. I still stuttered so badly that I could not talk, and the boys and girls laughed at me when I made another attempt to recite in class. But, this time I did not sit down entirely defeated. Some of the faith I had felt the day before still remained.

I read about Demosthenes who was said to have overcome an impediment in speech by talking with stones in his mouth. So I went down to the beach at Lake Michigan, picked up a handful of pebbles, washed them in the ripplets that came up on the shore, filled my mouth with them and tried to talk.

It did not work and I spit out the stones in disgust. I tried again, this time with fewer stones, and again and again and again. At last I literally fell on my knees in exhaustion and cried: "Please God, let me talk."

There followed years of trying.

If, today, you went down to the shores of Lake Michigan at what used to be called Diversey Beach before the turn of the century, you would still see the waves rolling up in protest over the speeches delivered there by me so many years ago.

SENTENCES FORMED

Words began to come, whole sentences formed in my throat and then I was reciting in high school. Leaving high school at the end of my second year, I went to work with a wholesale crockery house.

I heard of a man who taught public speaking and went to him for help. He showed me how to articulate, to form my words and sentences and phrases at the lips.

The time came when I made a public speech. Carefully written and memorized, it carried from my heart a message that had been long in forming.

I don't know who was most surprised, my audience or myself.

In my freshman year at the University of Wisconsin, an experience delayed for eight years because of having to work for funds to get started, I was given opportunity to preach in a little country church in a nearby village. This virgin effort brought such a degree of elation and confidence that others followed and I actually preached my way through college.

A GREAT JOY

After graduation I became a member of the university faculty and later added to my income by lecturing for the Extension Division of the university.

The time has now come when I depend largely upon public speaking for my livelihood and the greatest joy in my experiences is the ecstacy of bringing hope and inspiration to others. What was once a painful handicap has become my principal earning asset.

TOMORROW: Grove Patterson, famed editor of the Toledo Blade and widely known speaker, never cared for slang expressions. But he did find one which can help solve problems.

Morning Meeting Move Turned Down By Council

Ald. Mrs. Christie Thinks City Fathers Inclined To Be More Alert Early In Day

A motion of Ald. Mrs. Hilda Baxter that City Council hold its regular meetings starting at 10 in the morning instead of 2 in the afternoon, in order that aldermen might tackle the important job of civic business when they were most alert, was lost on a recorded vote of four to six, Tuesday afternoon.

At the present time meetings start at 2 in the afternoon and the average is of 3½ to four hours. The aldermen begin their deliberations on city business as the normal working day is drawing to a close.

Meetings were at one time held at night, to enable citizens who are working through the day, to attend. The hour was then changed to 4 o'clock. It was later changed to 3 and then to 2.

"By 5 and 6 in the evening we are rushing through things we have not time to consider properly," Ald. Baxter said, speaking to the motion.

"I think we will all agree we are more alert in the morning."

Ready to agree with her when the hands were counted were Aldermen Waldo Skillings, who held city business was the most important business operated in the city, William Pinfold, who wanted to give the matter a trial and Percy B. Scurrah.

On the other side of the fence were Alderman Harold M. Diggon, Duncan D. McTavish, Mrs. M. D. Christie, Frank Mulliner, Dr. J. D. Hunter, and Mayor Percy E. George.

Both Mayor George and Ald. Mulliner said it made no difference to them and the mayor thought it would be worth a trial. When the voting took place, however, they both registered negative votes.

Ald. Diggon claimed aldermen had to attend to their private business and mail in the morning hours and that he for one could not afford to let this go by. The morning hour, he said, was inconvenient.

"The business of City Council would be handled more quickly and in a more business-like manner at a morning meeting, give it a trial," urged Ald. Skillings. "A number of aldermen are retired or are in their own business.

"I feel we should give this serious consideration and not just vote it down without some thought."

However the "nays" had it. Meetings will continue to start at 2 in the afternoon and carry on until the usual 5.30 or6 in the evening.

Business Offices Coming Within Television's Grasp

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

Does the office inter-com or telephone give you an uneasy feeling that the boss is always right beside you? Or do you feel a little nervous when he makes a tour of office or plant?

Well, prepare to be more uneasy and more nervious. Pretty soon he can come at you without warning, not only with biting or booming voice, but with gestures and grimaces—all at the flick on a switch. Worse than that, he can be looking over your shoulder without your even knowing it.

The answer is, of course, television. For that little package of light and movement has only started to unveil its wonders.

There can be television hook-ups that would put the boss right on your desk or, if he didn't want to get that personal about it, a central screen by which he can speak to a group; this especially for large offices and plants, or those in another centre than the head office.

Or there can be the reverse, where he looks down the line without himself being seen and sees just what's happening in any corner of the premises, or even in branch factories.

The possibilities are virtually limitless.

"I hope you will be here for my 100th birthday," she told the photographer.

HOLLYWOOD REVIEW

'Harvey' Made Into Movie But Big Rabbit Not Seen

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mary Chase, author of the prize-winning "Harvey," is campaigning to have her six-foot rabbit shown on the screen.

The film version of the stage hit will soon begin production at Universal-International. Mrs. Chase is here to confer on writing the script. She has spent the last few days trying to argue the producers into showing Harvey in the film.

"All I want," she told me, "is a final scene of Jimmy Stewart leaving the sanitarium arm in arm with Harvey. Just a shot showing them from the rear. I feel this is necessary to vindicate Mr. Stewart. Otherwise he appears to be merely a drunk."

So far the U.-I. execs have said a flat "No." They think it should be left up to the audience whether or not there is a Harvey. But Mrs. Chase is still arguing.

Perhaps her persistence is because Harvey is real to her. "I was brought up on the Celtic legends about large animals," she said. "My family originally came from Ulster."

Mrs. Chase related that she had been searching for a play idea several years ago. She awoke one morning with the idea of a man who made friends with a pooka, as the over-size animals are called in Irish legend. Thus Elwood P. Dowd and Harvey were born.

Harvey appeared in public only once. The play's producer, the late Brock Pemberton, was opposed to the idea. But he agreed to let Harvey appear onstage at the end of the second act in a tryout before an audience of servicemen.

"Mr. Pemberton was very nice about it," said Mrs. Chase. "He paid $650 for a beautiful costume. But after the pooka appeared on the stage, the audience froze. The comedy was lost."

Display May Go On Vacant Lot

A two-unit display of modern store fronts may be set up in a vacant lot, if one can be found, but cannot rest at the Yates Street curb as requested.

City Council took this action at its meeting Tuesday, following receipt of a report from the public works committee that it could come to no agreement on the request of Hobbs Glass Limited for permission to park the display, known as the Pittsburgh Caravan on Yates, April 6 and 7.

City Says Has No Billboard Power

City Council were advised at Tuesday's meeting that the city has no power to prohibit billboard signs on privately-owned land, provided by-laws are complied with and traffic vision at intersections is not obstructed.

The information was contained in the public works committee report, which recommended that no action be taken in the matter. Several complaints had been received at various times from residents on the billboard issue. No action was taken on the matter.

Chalk River Increases Radioisotopes Supplies

Atomic Project Reports Steady Growth In Providing Industries And Institutions

OTTAWA—Much new knowledge of a fundamental nature is being gained by the scientists at the National Research Council's Atomic Energy Project at Chalk River, Ont. The N.R.X. reactor, or heavy-water "pile," has continued to perform satisfactorily and as a result an abundant supply of isotopes is being steadily produced to meet the needs of specialist research workers in the universities and industries, whose laboratories are equipped to make use of these radioactive materials.

From the new isotopes separation laboratory, completed in 1949, the number of shipments of an increasing variety of radioisotopes to Canadian industries and institutions, has more than doubled within a year. Announcement has been made that the project is now prepared to make foreign shipments of radioisotopes for experimental purposes, under the general conditions laid down under the Atomic Energy Control Act.

Among recent results of scientific interest, it has been proved that the neutron, one of the fundamental particles in the nucleus of all atoms, is not stable but radioactive and disintegrates into a proton, the nucleus of a hydrogen atom. The half-life of neutrons has been found to be about ten minutes, i.e., half of them are transformed into protons in that time.

MEASURE ENERGIES

Using the high neutron flux from the pile and the electron pair spectrometer, the gamma radiations from the rare capture of neutrons in aluminum and carbon have been detected and their radiation energies measured. From this information it has become possible to determine some energies to which the nuclei of elements can be raised. These energy levels in lead and heavier elements appear to be similar to those in the light elements and quite different from those detected in gold and the elements of intermediate atomic weights.

More than forty papers embodying the results of investigations performed by the staff at the project have been published in scientific journals in addition to those read at various scientific and technical meetings.

Fifty houses were completed and occupied in Deep River Village during 1949 and 10 more are under construction. Two additional rooms to the village school were completed and occupied by the increasing number of children reaching school age. There were more than a hundred and thirty births in the village hospital during the last 12 months, the population of Deep River now being approximately 2,000. Oven 60 per cent of the 1,200 employees at the project are veterans.

Correspondents Ride Over Shanghai With Nationalists Bombing Reds

By RICHARD C. FERGUSON

CHUSAN ISLAND, China (NEA) — The patched-up B-25 with its sides scorched by the blast of its own machine guns droned over Shanghai, all alone in the air above what used to be the busiest city in the Far East.

A few black bursts of anti-aircraft floated up at the plane as it winged over Kiangwan airdrome. Otherwise the city was quiet, and the Chinese Nationalist Air Force bomber had the skies to itself on its mission over the Communist-held mainland from the island of Chusan, less than 100 miles away.

High above Chiang Yin, north of Shanghai on the Yangtze, the navigator - bombardier had dropped his string of eight 250-pound bombs on a 3,000-ton ship, target for the day. His near-miss cost the crew a $750 gold bonus they'd have earned if the ship had been sunk; nevertheless, the word for the mission was "ting hao"—all is well.

3-HOUR FLIGHT

With one other U.S. correspondent, I rode the B-25 on its three-hour flight from Chusan for the first American look at Shanghai since the city fell to the Communists last May. Likewise, we were the first foreign newspapermen to visit Chusan, most important outpost in the battle to hold Formosa, 350 miles to the south.

At this furthest advanced Nationalist base, air force crews fly B-25s and P-51s on one long mission or three short missions every day that weather permits.

The greatest danger they face is not Communist opposition, but the age and condition of the planes and, sometimes, desertion of crews to the Red side. Maintenance and operation are complicated by shortages of planes, parts, bombs and fuel. But even the AT6s, training planes in America, are armed with 100-pound bombs and machine guns at Chusan.

"I don't believe anyone in your air force would think of flying this plane," the co-pilot of the B-25 we flew in remarked, pointing to missing instruments and patched-up equipment. It didn't seem to bother the crew.

The puffs of ack-ack at Kiangwan, where Nationalist planes once were based, and smoke from a few industrial stacks were virtually the only signs of life we saw as we circled Shanghai.

No trains moved on railroad tracks, their operation is limited to night for fear of patroling Nationalist planes. Once-crowded streets were only sparsely dotted with trucks and automobiles.

Except for light junks and a few larger craft anchored off the Bund, the normally busy Wangpoo River was bare of shipping. The Yangtze River, lifeline for millions in inland cities and towns, presented a similar picture with only six ships of any size visible.

No planes could be seen on Shanghai's commercial airport runways.

Crews flying from Chusan would like to meet some in the air. They have yet to spot any of the commercial or military planes whose crews joined up with the Reds. "We'd sure shoot them down if we did," said Col. Lai Hsun Hen, 30-year-old commanding officer of the Chusan airbase.

Testimony On Tape In Court

LONDON (CP)—London's law courts are to be wired for sound.

Electronic equipment, which will eventually replace the corps of skilled shorthand writers, is to be installed. It will make a record of every word spoken in the courts.

The records will be made on two-mile-long drums of thin tape, each of which will store the court proceedings of one hour.

After typists have transcribed the recorded words, the records, each about the size of a packet of cigarettes, can either be filed away or wiped clean and used for another recording.

Lord Goddard, Lord Chief Justice, tested the equipment and approved it.

NOW! GET QUICK RELIEF FROM SORE, PAINFUL PILES

A Candid and Honest Discussion on a Delicate Subject

FOREWORD: This is a frank attempt to give you in non-technical language certain information regarding a widespread and personally annoying physical condition. A condition which not only afflicts countless thousands, but makes these thousands suffer untold discomfort, pain and embarrassment. Far too often this condition—at first superficial in itself—can be Nature's warning of more serious trouble to come. We believe every man or woman who suffers from this condition owes it to their own personal comfort to read the statement below.

* * * * *

Since the dawn of civilization, medical men have carried on a ceaseless war. Not only to save human lives, but to relieve,—or, better still, prevent some of the physical afflictions of humanity and the incalculable human misery they cause.

Thus, when a famous physician or a noted scientist makes an important therapeutic discovery or perfects a new surgical technique, the news rings round the world. Yet, even while these front-page discoveries are taking place, some of the most widespread human maladies—"hay fever"—"the common cold"—"athlete's foot"—certain digestive disorders—are undergoing constant scientific study and laboratory scrutiny by men the public never hears of . . . simply because these "everyday" maladies do not seem serious.

Among these seemingly commonplace afflictions are "piles". Those who suffer from this amazingly widespread trouble are burdened with a double hardship.
They yearn for relief, but hesitate to seek it —merely because of "false pride", the sheer embarrassment of seeking advice or treatment often makes it preferable to suffer in silence. There is no "drama" about piles. No glamour—no glory—no front-page fame for the man who finds a way to help pile sufferers. The subject itself is mostly taboo . . . it is seldom, if ever openly discussed. But no man or woman who has known, or now knows, the agonizing, embarrassing torment of itching, burning piles—the loss in business efficiency, in social pleasure, in good looks and vitality and sheer enjoyment of life—will deny that a safe and efficient method for relieving this condition, could well be a far-reaching contribution to human health and comfort.

* * * * *

WHAT ARE PILES?

Piles, as such, are not a primary ailment but result from some condition preceding or associated with them. The contributing conditions that cause piles never originate in the parts affected.
In their early stages, piles are inflamed, distended rectal veins—actually, "varicose veins" in the delicate membranes of the rectum. One of their primary causes—surprisingly often, in fact—is hepatic congestion or torpidity of the liver which results in common, everyday constipation. In ordinary layman's language, here is what happens:

1. When the liver is unduly congested and its normal function is slowed by sluggishness the flow of blood to the liver from the lower bowel is retarded and dozens of small rectal veins become swollen and distended with blood.
2. This sluggish, congested liver action usually causes constipation.
3. With the start of constipation, hard clogging masses form in the lower bowel and colon.
4. These hard masses press upon and irritate or bruise the sensitive, distended rectal veins.
5. Blood thickens and stagnates in the bruised area. The tiny veins become greatly inflamed, over-sensitive, lumpy and thus excrutiatingly painful.
6. The pain from these blood swollen veins, plus aggravation of the constipation itself, is "self perpetuating". The condition increases the itching, burning pain and soreness, which in turn further increases the constipation—which in turn tends to further enlarge and irritate the swollen veins which then become pile tumors. It is a vicious circle.

This is why, from the very onset, piles are sheer torment—as their victims know all too well.

* * * * *

But the agony and embarrassment of piles are only the beginning—really Nature's first call for help.
If help does not come in time, if the vicious circle is not broken, there eventually may be only one answer—chronic piles or the surgeon's knife. A big price to pay for lack of knowledge!

* * * * *

Yet, today in many cases, radical action may not be the only answer. More than half a century ago an able and qualified professional man began an intensive study on the whole subject of piles—their cause and effect. He found a means by which this vicious circle may be broken. This man compounded and tried, in his own practice, many different combinations of ingredients. He finally devised a formula of medically proven elements which showed amazing results in 86 out of 100 consecutive cases that came to his personal and professional attention. Proving that piles come from congested conditions inside the body—never from an outside cause—his final formula was an internal remedy, small tablets taken by mouth.

* * * * *

Now, we have been asked by many well informed persons "how in the world can small tablets taken with a glass of water three times a day help my piles?" But just stop and think as we repeat—"piles come from congested conditions inside the body—never from an outside cause. Therefore it is sensible to attack piles from the inside where the trouble starts. To combat piles you need internal medication that actually relieves hepatic congestion, stimulates the liver and bile, gently and effectively eases constipation and works to improve the circulation of blood in the lower bowel. And as proper treatment improves blood circulation in the lower bowel the healing forces of Nature take hold and promote a healthier condition in the sore, painful areas where piles are found. That is why you need internal medication if you want to relieve the unnatural congestion that is the real cause of piles. It is on that sound reasoning this man originated an internal treatment for piles.

* * * * *

He gave his formula the trade name of Hem-Roid and began to use it, not only in his own practice, but also to furnish Hem-Roid to his friends and acquaintances. Several years later, in 1904 to be exact, he sold the formula and name. Hem-Roid was then offered to the general public.

* * * * *

The remarkable results through the use of Hem-Roid are a matter of record extending over the last 50 years. Millions of packages have been sold in various countries throughout the world. Hundreds of users have testified to its quick and efficient action.

* * * * *

SPECIAL NOTE: The makers of Hem-Roid sincerely believe that pile sufferers everywhere will welcome this information. Of course some persons, in very old, long standing, neglected cases should consult a physician. But for the average pile conditions, we know nothing better than Hem-Roid to give you the action and results you desire.

* * * * *

ACCEPT THIS SPECIAL OFFER NOW

We want Hem-Roid to prove itself to you in your own case, so we make this generous offer. Secure from any drug store a package of Hem-Roid, 60 tablets, 20 full days treatment, at the amazingly low cost of $1.50. Use the tablets exactly as directed for 10 days. If, at the end of that time you are not delighted with the results you get, return the unused portion of the package to the druggist and your full purchase price will be refunded without question—you are the sole judge. So you risk nothing—not even the small cost of Hem-Roid, (a few pennies a day,) if you are not completely satisfied. And you do stand to gain quick and immeasurable relief from the pain, discomfort and embarrassment you have endured. So why suffer? Why risk costly and perhaps more radical methods when inexpensive Hem-Roid may give you quickly, easily and pleasantly just the help and benefit you seek?

* * * * *

It would show a serious lack of interest in your own personal comfort for you to continue to suffer the pain, itching and soreness of piles when so good a remedy as Hem-Roid may be had at such a small cost. And it is rare indeed that more than 10 days' use are needed to prove its merit. Try it and see for yourself.

Legion Names Two Delegates To Convention

J. H. Van Slyke, president, and Robt. Knight, with F. W. Jones as alternate, have been chosen delegates to the forthcoming Dominion convention to be held in Winnipeg in May, by Britannia Branch of the Canadian Legion.

Several other members have signified their intention of possible attendance at the convention, and will be given credentials on application to the secretary-manager.

Sports committee chairman J. C. Dowds presented an extensive program for the year, highlighted by preliminary plans for the annual Good Friday road race, this year to be staged on April 7, starting at 10.30 from the Britannia clubrooms. A race committee consisting of George Yardley, A. McHaffie, J. Neufield and Bruce Humber, representing the Canadian Legion, with Lieut. Taylor, R.C.N., and Gordon Hartley, was approved by the members.

Entries close April 1. Three competitions are: Senior 10-mile, 19 years and over; intermediate two and one-half-mile, 18 years and under; junior, one mile, 15 years and under.

The general meeting confirmed S. J. Mayzes as general chairman for another term, and J. C. McKay as executive representative on the zone council. He will act with F. W. Jones, selected by the general membership as second representative, with W. C. Hudson and Ralph Seymour as alternates.

A resolution dealing with employment of D.P.'s in defence projects such as the dockyard was again referred to the zone council as previous action was not considered satisfactory.

Shots Fired At B.C.E. Trains

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Electric was "under fire" again Tuesday night, but it was more than a tongue-lashing.

Officials reported windows in two interurban trains were broken when vandals armed with .22 calibre rifles fired at the Vancouver-bound trains on Commercial Drive.

Conductor Allan Norridge reported a bullet entered one window and went out through the opposite side at Fifteenth and Commercial. Later, conductor Norman Phillips said his train was fired on at Twelfth and Commercial, resulting in similar damage.

No one was injured.

Fire Committee Studies Report Of Underwriters

Oak Bay Council's fire committee is currently studying a recommendation of the B.C. Underwriters' Association that additional men be hired for the municipal fire department.

It is reported the association advised that the number on each shift should be increased at the Monterey Avenue fire hall following a survey of Oak Bay fire-fighting facilities.

MAY BOOST RATES

The underwriters stated fire insurance rates in the municipality would likely be increased if manpower of the fire department was not boosted.

The need for additional firemen is believed to have grown out of the increase in population in Oak Bay during recent years. The department at present has four men on each shift.

Three To Fight Parking Charge

Three motorists this morning in city police court pleaded not guilty to charges of parking in a prohibited area on Blanshard Street March 7. They are George P. S. Cole, Fred Allen Robinson and Colin Tyrrell. Cases were remanded to Mar. 29 as Const. William Knowles, who laid the charge, would not be available until then owing to illness. They are believed to be opposing the charge.

Eats First Meal In Three Years

CHICAGO (AP) — An eight-year-old Canadian boy ate his first meal in three years Tuesday —soup, milk and gelatine, topped off with ice cream.

It was the first time any food had gone down the throat of Philibert Dube of Riviere du Loup, Que., since he swallowed some lye when he was five. The burning lye closed up his esophagus. Since then he had been fed through a tube inserted in an opening in his stomach.

MARKET REVIEW

Wall Street Stocks Hit 3-Year High

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market climbed to a three-year high.

Leading issues moved up fractions to a top or about two points, many selling at peaks for 1949-50. Most gains were a point or less.

Trading volume expanded rapidly as the price level curved upward.

Investment buying was credited with playing an important part in the move. Profit-taking and short selling were taken care of handily on the way up.

TORONTO (CP) — Moderate demand lifted prices steadily higher in moderately active trading on the exchange. Industrials led the upturn on gains ranging from fractions to more than a point.

Papers showed an almost solid list of advances and foods, liquors, textiles and utilities climbed. Steels, constructions and refining oils were mixed.

MONTREAL (CP)—As trading volume expanded, stocks drove into higher price ground near the final hour on the exchange and curb market.

Changes ranged from small fractions to more than a point.

Papers and the industrial section were strong in the selected group, followed by utilities, base metals, beverages and carriers. Senior oils were mixed, while steels showed a weaker tone.

LONDON (Reuter)—The start of a new account brought no revival of interest in the London Stock Exchange.

Price changes in all sections were small and markets were without definite trend. British government stocks showed small gains in the short-dated issues, others were steady in idleness.

BUSY SUMMER NOW IN SIGHT FOR C.N.R., PRAIRIES INFORMED

EDMONTON (BUP)—J. P. Johnson of Winnipeg, vice-president of the Canadian National Railway's western region, said today no recession is in sight for railway business in the west.

Johnson said on a visit here that a big building program throughout the west this year, plus ever-increasing shipments of oil, appeared to guarantee a busy year for the railway.

"I can see nothing to create a recession this summer," he added.

ALBERTA OIL REPORT

Shell Reported Preparing For Play In Calgary Area

Special to the Times

CALGARY—Shell Oil Co. is getting wound up for an oil play in the Calgary area it has been learned on reliable authority. Among the projects pending are a deepening of Anglo Canadian Black Diamond No. 1.

The area east of Turner Valley, territory which has always held a fascination for oil men, will receive further testing by a Shell try at DeWinton, widely rumored in oil circles but for which no location has yet been announced.

Alberta's abandonments for 1950 have risen to 35 with the announcement of failure at Stanolind's Smokey Lake, 30 miles northeast of Redwater, and Texaco-Time's Brightbank, 15 miles west of Golden Spike. Included in the 35 were three temporary abandonments of the Shell Oil Co. in the northern reaches of the province beyond the line of the Muskwe River.

The Pacific group has staked locations for two more wells in Redwater, has cemented three wells for production, and is reaching critical stages on two others. Excelsior Pacific No. 2 is perforating for production tests 41 feet into the pay zone.

Cemented and being readied for production is Calvan Pacific Opal No. 1, a mile and a half west of the northwestern corner of the field, as it stands at present.

Also cemented and being readied for production is the Sel-burn No. 2 in the Simmons area, which last week surprised oil observers by striking the Red-water reef 157 feet above the water line.

Admit Need For Improvement In Jails, Prisons

Premier Byron Johnson and Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer admitted in the B.C. Legislature today there was room for improvement in the condition of provincial jails and prisons.

The Premier described maintenance of penal institutions as another problem facing the government.

Mr. Johnson considered the government had done a good job in providing extra schools and hospitals and hoped that in the near future it would be able to undertake a building program to provide new jails.

The question of government plans for penal institutions was raised in the House by E. E. Winch, C.C.F.-Burnaby.

Mr. Winch asked: "How long are you going to continue to use those medieval jails?"

He thought the jails were a disgrace to the government and were detrimental to the prisoners.

Warns Of Work To Be Done In Fraser River

T. E. Morrison, Department of Transport agent here, today advised mariners that a wharf will be constructed in the north arm of the Fraser River and scows will be moored alongside for the purpose of unloading rock for the reconstruction of the north arm jetty.

The structure will be approximately 2,200 feet upstream from the upper end of the existing rock mound (approximately 950 feet upstream from Third Light), and will extend about 300 feet out from the centre line of the jetty. Lights will be placed on the wharf at night and the structure will be removed on completion of the work.

Mariners were also advised that Tahsis North Narrows light, Tahsis Channel, is again in operation.

Pilgrims Off To Rome

SOOKE — Final game of the Sooke Cribbage League will be played in the community hall here on March 24. Prizes will be awarded at a later date at a social. The last league game was won by James Forrest.

$23,000,000 Construction In 1950 Planned By B.C.E.

B.C. Electric spent nearly $30,000,000 to build new plants and buy new equipment in 1949, according to the company's annual report released today.

This record of expansion, said President A. E. Grauer, was second only to the all-time high set in 1948.

Other higalights of the reports were:

1. Placing in operation of two more 62,000 horsepower units at Bridge River last year made the B.C.E. one of the first electric companies in North America to achieve a normal surplus power position.

2. B.C.E. took in $39.6 millions in 1949, paid out 41 per cent of this sum ($16.5 millions) in wages, salaries, pensions. Materials and services (other than wages) took 21 per cent of total revenue, or $8.2 millions.

3. Holders of common stock received $1.60 for each share. Preferred stockholders earned an average of 4.14 cents per dollar invested, while bondholders were paid at an average rate of 3.34 cents per dollar.

4. The company sold more electricity and gas in 1949 than in the previous year, but carried fewer passengers on transit lines. The figures were:

MacLean Claims To Have Forgotten Everything

Former N.S. Mayor Takes Witness Stand In Own Defence Against Murder Charge

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Dan Jack MacLean told today of a five-hour drinking spree with Joseph MacKinnon, the man he is accused of murdering, and testified he can't remember what happened the night MacKinnon was killed.

MacLean, 58, and ruddy-faced, took the stand in his own defence in his trial for murder. He pleaded innocent.

He told of drinking beer with MacKinnon, then driving to his summer home with bottles of rum and brandy where the two men drank and talked and sang in Gaelic.

He fell asleep, he said. The next thing he remembers is being awakened at home by his wife who told him the police wanted him.

MacLean is the former mayor of Sydney. MacKinnon was the city's registrar of voters. MacLean is accused of running down the 63-year-old cripple with his car in a dark alley Dec. 18.

Once MacLean broke down as he told of a life-long friendship with MacKinnon.

"It struck me pretty hard to think that I was accused of the murder of the best friend I had in this world," he said.

MacLean was the only witness called by the defence counsel Ross MacKimmie. Mr. MacKimmie and Crown Prosecutor Donald Finlayson are summing up the case. It is expected to reach the all-male Nova Scotia Supreme Court jury tomorrow.

Before MacLean took the stand, witnesses told of hearing screams of "Don't Jack" and seeing a car move back and forth towards a body in the muddy alley in the south-end of Sydney. MacKinnon died shortly after his body was found in the alley.

MacLean said he did not know how he drove his car home from the cottage and got upstairs to bed. Neither could he explain bruises on his left side.

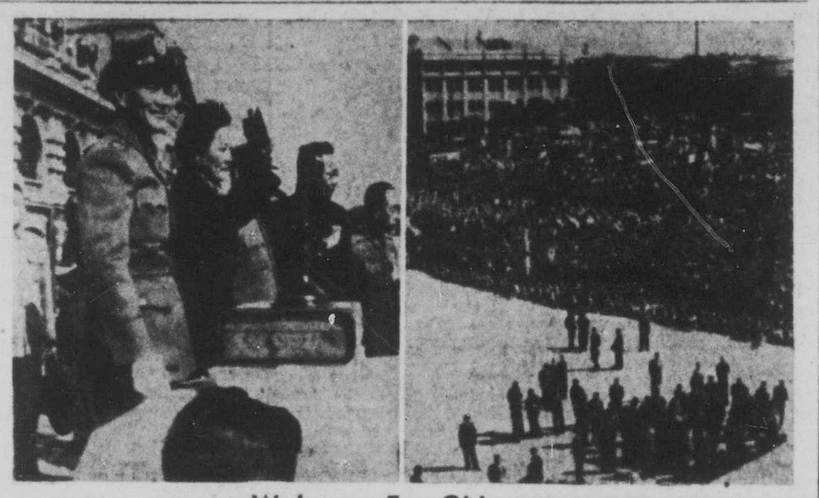

He said he and MacKinnon had been friends since childhood who had often lent each other money. They frequently drank together and talked and sang in Gaelic, he said.

He broke down and cried as he told the jury that it was a "great shock" when he was informed of MacKinnon's death.

Ignorant Of Killing, Vancouver Man Says

VANCOUVER (CP)—Frederick Rodger Ducharme, accused of murder, today took the witness stand as the defence began its attempt to prove he is "the opposite of brutality and violence."

D. J. McAlpine, defence counsel, said he would show the 34-year-old laborer "found himself in a mesh of circumstantial evidence."

Ducharme is charged with the murder of Fern Blanche Fisher, 45, whose battered, half-naked body was found in False Creek here Nov. 9.

Stating the defence would be short, Mr. McAlpine said Ducharme would be the only witness. A mental specialist also will give evidence, he said, "to show what type of man Ducharme is and what he suffers from."

Evidence given by the Crown that the accused man had been with Miss Fisher the night before her body was found will not be disputed.

Mr. McAlpine told the jury the defence would show that Ducharme picked up Miss Fisher on the night of Nov. 8, that they went for a drive, became affectionate and intimate until she became hysterical and left the accused's car.

The last Ducharme saw of her was when she ran towards Kitsilano trestle and that he considered the matter a closed incident until he read in the paper the following day about the discovery of a woman's body in False Creek.

"You have heard the Crown's case and the evidence on which they rely. The Crown's case was that this was a brutal and horrible sex crime—murder."

Mr. McAlpine said the defence will show that Ducharme is of a type of personality that is opposite of "brutality and violence."

Britain Turns Down Talks On A-Bomb Ouster

LONDON (UP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin said today it would be "improper" for him to initiate discussions with the U.S. regarding Sen. Brien McMahon's proposal to scrap atomic weapons.

Bevin said he had received no communication from the U.S. government concerning the proposal.

Laborite Tom Driberg asked Bevin in Commons what official word he had received from Washington on the subject. He also asked whether Bevin would initiate a discussion of the proposals.

Bevin said he had got no word, and "since these proposals would involve a financial burdon on the U.S. government, it would not be desirable for His Majesty's government to initiate discussions of them."

Driberg asked if Bevin was in touch with U.S. statesmen and whether it was possible for the Foreign Secretary to "grab with both hands" the McMahon proposal.

"Of course," Bevin replied. "I have talks with other governments about these important subjects, but if a proposal is made by a member of the House of Commons, for instance, involving the expenditure of millions of money, it is not the usual practice to begin discussing a private member's suggestion with some other government.

"It must come through the government, and it would be quite improper for me to take up with the U.S.A., officially or unofficially, Senator McMahon's proposals which would involve tremendous burdens upon U.S. taxpayers."

Ready To Take Indians Into White Schools

The Provincial Department of Education is ready to accept Indian children in the schools of B.C. provided the national government pays the cost.

Education Minister W. T. Straith said in the Legislature today he favored integration of Indian schools operated by the Indian Affairs Department of the Dominion government with the provincial schools, as carried out at Hazelton.

In that B.C. town it was found that both the provincial school and the Indian school had to be rebuilt. Instead of two new schools being built, agreement was made with Ottawa authorities to build one for both Indian and white children.

There were nine Indian youngsters and seven white. Ottawa was paying 9/16ths of the cost of construction and maintenance, and the local school board 7/16ths.

"So we have worked out a basis there which may be followed in the future," the minister said.

He reported to the House that recent negotiations with the national government were leading to the employment of provincial school inspectors by the Dominion government to check Indian schools.

Five Desperadoes Flee Atlanta Jail

ATLANTA (UP)—Five desperate federal prisoners were hunted today after they slugged and gagged a a Fulton tower guard, slid four floors on sheets and scaled a 30-foot wall to freedom.

Two others were captured before they could make it over the wall in the break Tuesday night.

The five jail breakers manhandled a motorist in an attempt to commandeer his car, but three of them finally fled to a nearby parked taxi cab and threatened the driver into taking them to an outlying area.

Police said all armed themselves with pistols after escaping.

U.S. MEDICINE ENTERING NEW FIELD

Atomic Hospital For Sufferers From Cancer To Be Opened Soon

By PAUL F. ELLIS
United Press Science Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—American medicine appears to be entering a new field in which some patients will be treated at "atomic hospitals."

These are located near atomic furnaces such as Oak Ridge, Tenn., or near huge cyclotrons which also produce radioactive substances used in the treatment of cancer or in diagnostic work.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced Tuesday that an "atomic hospital" for cancer patients will be opened soon at Oak Ridge. A somewhat similar hospital has been in operation for about a year at the Brookhaven National Laboratory on Long Island. In that time, more than 30 patients have been treated. About a third of them suffered from cancer.

A third hospital is under construction at the Argonne laboratories in Chicago, and some patients already have been treated there.

In treating some persons who have cancer, it is necessary to take them to the atomic piles, rather than bring the radioactive substance to the city hospital. This may become increasingly more important as medical science discovers new radioactive materials or isotopes that will have medical value. Many of these isotopes lose their radioactivity and thus their effectiveness, rapidly.
